LIGHT COMMITTEE HAS TAKEN ACTION

Notified the Company That the City Must Have Better Service or Their Pay

WOULD STOP WITH DECEMBER

The Numerous Conferences Have Not Resulted to the Benefit of the City.

AN EXPERT MAY BE HERE

The light committee of council yesterday made a move that will result in one of two things—the city will either be furnished with a better service or no service at all.

They informed the company that their pay, so far as the city of East Liverpool was concerned, would stop with the month of December, unless a better service is given, and there is no doubt the plan will be carried out.

This action was taken only after every effort had been made to have the electric light people carry out their part of the contract, and they have now concluded to settle the matter one way or the other, and that speedily.

The city is supposed to pay for 2,000 candle power arc lights, and it is now thought that an expert will be put to work in behalf of the city to investigate the power of the present lights.

THORNE KICKED.

SAID HIS WIFE WASN'T USING CASH IN JUDICIOUS MANNER.

He Contributes $4 50 Per Week to the Support of His Minor Children.

Edward Thorne was in Justice McLane's court this morning and stated that his wife was not using the money which the court had decreed he should contribute to the support of his children in a judicious manner.

It will be remembered that some ago Mrs. Thorne made a complaint against her husband for non-support, and the squelch made an allowance of $4 50 per week. The case will be investigated, and if the claim made by Thorne is true the matter will be turned over to the humane officer.

Section 3735 provides that in cases of this character the humane officer shall make application to the probate court for letters of guardianship and then arrange for their admission to the Children's Home. Should the statement made by Thorne be found correct the above course will be pursued.

The Wellsville Record of Monday tells of a street car accident which happened in that city. The story is as follows:

"Byron Gibb, of this city, a potter, went to East Liverpool on a street car the other day to see his friend, Conductor Morgan, who was injured in the street railway accident in East Liverpool a week ago today. When the car reached the power house at the East End, East Liverpool, Mr. Gibb started to get off. As he was getting off the platform of the car he placed his left hand on the railing of the car and received an electric shock. The railing of the car platform was heavily charged with electricity. Mr. Gibb was unable to remove his hand from the railing and he was dragged away by the conductor of the car. "Mr. Gibb has not been able to work since. His injured hand is being treated by Dr. A. L. Robinson.

"Mr. Gibb has had a talk with Manager Healy, of the street railway company, about damages, and Mr. Healy gave him to understand that the company would do what was right for him.

Christmas, being the acknowledged birthday of the Son of God in the flesh, was worthily celebrated at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church.

The oak leaf festooning from Nurnberg, Germany, made it possible in midwinter to produce an effect of nature's richest green of the forest. The Christmas services called the "Advent Tree" was edifying and instructive. In his address the pastor said:

"There is a time and place for all things, and the mixing of the sublime and the ridiculous in our Christmas adorations is never in time and ever out of place. Merry old Santa Claus must part with us at the church door.

The beautiful hymns were gathered from many sources, both ancient and modern. The offering for the orphans netted the goodly sum of $22 50.

The indications are that extensive improvements are contemplated by the East Liverpool and Rock Springs Street Railway company.

Within the last few weeks the property of the company has been mortgaged for $150,000 and the bonds are held by the Union Trust company, of Pittsburg.

It is argued by those who profess to know that the cash will be spent in making improvements to the line, and some claim that the company intends putting a bridge across the river if the present structure cannot be purchased from Jutte.

Others claim the cash will be expended in extending the line to Hookstown.

C. A. Smith, president of the line, was out of the city and could not be seen.

MORTGAGED THEIR LINE FOR $150,000

East Liverpool and Rock Springs Street Railway Company Borrowed That Sum.

UNION TRUST CO. OF PITTSBURG

Hold the Bonds and It Is Said Some Extensive Improvements Are Contemplated.

IT MAY MEAN A NEW BRIDGE

The indications are that extensive improvements are contemplated by the East Liverpool and Rock Springs Street Railway company.

Within the last few weeks the property of the company has been mortgaged for $150,000 and the bonds are held by the Union Trust company, of Pittsburg.

It is argued by those who profess to know that the cash will be spent in making improvements to the line, and some claim that the company intends putting a bridge across the river if the present structure cannot be purchased from Jutte.

Others claim the cash will be expended in extending the line to Hookstown.

C. A. Smith, president of the line, was out of the city and could not be seen.

Mr. Croxall made a neat response. None but members who have served for more than 25 years are entitled to wear the badge, which must be secured from the sovereign grand lodge.

Mr. Croxall has been a member for 28 years.

TRAGIC DEATH OF JOHN HAMILTON

Was Fixing an Electric Light on Mulberry Street, East End, and Took

HOLD OF A LIVE WIRE

He Was Thrown Several Feet and Was Dead When He Was Picked Up.

BRIEF HISTORY OF HIS LIFE

Fireman John Hamilton was instantly killed on Monday evening by an electrical shock from a live wire on Mulberry street, East End.

The lamp is located at the Mulberry street railroad crossing and is paid for by the railroad company. For that reason very little attention has been paid to the service from this particular light by the light company, and as a result it has been out most of the time for weeks.

Fireman Hamilton noticed the light go out, and, hastening to the rope which secured it in place, he shook the thing in an endeavor to start it. The only effect this had was to cause the wires to become tangled and caught fire to a manila rope above the lamp. Hamilton of course untied the rope below and lowered the light to the street, where he attempted to extinguish the flame by passing his hand back and forth in front of it. Some one called to him from the sidewalk to be careful not to touch the wire, and in turning about to reply his open hand came in contact with the wire and he was thrown backward to the curb, where he fell.

Bystanders carried the injured man into Allison's restaurant, where an examination showed there were no signs of life. Several physicians were summoned and everything possible done to revive him, but from the moment he was picked up no signs of life were noticed.

John Hamilton was born in Hamiltontown, opposite Wellsville, 51 years ago, and with the exception of a few years the greater portion of his life was spent in this city, where he was among the best known and most prominent citizens.

He was appointed to the position which he held at the time of his death on May 8, 1900, and has been an able assistant to Captain Terrence at the East End station.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from his late home on Pennsylvania avenue, and interment will be made in the cemetery at Hamiltontown.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Royal Arcanum, of which the deceased was a member, and it is probable a detail from the local fire department will be in attendance.

SENTENCED FOR FRAUD.

MEIERS AND JONES CONVICTED OF SWINDLING.

Forgers of Railroad Passes Get Indeterminate Terms in the Penitentiary.

Two swindlers of railroad companies by means of forged passes, and one swindler of manufacturers by the use of the mails, were sentenced to the penitentiary from Chicago yesterday.

Gilbert E. Meiers and John H. Jones, the wholesale forgers of railway passes, who were arrested when about to leave Chicago a few weeks ago, pleaded guilty of forgery before Judge Tuley, and a few minutes later were sentenced to Joliet for an indeterminate term. Although the men were glad to plead guilty without troubling the prosecution to present its evidence, they were not willing to tell the extent to which they had defrauded the railroads.

A few facts about their operations were drawn from the men, but no connected story was told by them. The amounts of which the railroads have been defrauded by them run into the thousands of dollars, and railroads throughout the country have been victimized, but no definite idea of the extent of the operations can be secured. In addition to the forging and selling of employees' passes, for which the men were arrested, they had another method of obtaining transportation. They would present to the passenger agent of a railroad a forged letter from the head of another road, asking for trip passes for two employees of the foreign road. When this letter was honored by the issuance of the requested passes, the pasteboards would be promptly sold to a scalper. Meiers told of getting six return passes to important western points in this manner. They were sold to Bill Nye, a Chicago scalper, for $210, and were recovered from him, after the arrest of Meiers and Jones by the railroads interested.

Meiers and Jones worked in one city after another through the country, and it was due to the vigilance of Central Passenger association officials who were on the lookout for them, that they were caught when they appeared here. They ordered bogus autograph stamps from A. W. Martin & Co., makers of rubber stamps, who reported the order to the passenger association. The forgers depended on the possession of false stamps and of paper and passes printed by themselves for their success.

Five Indictments.

There were five indictments against the men, but when they pleaded guilty to the charge of forging a pass over the Norfolk & Western the other indictments were dropped.

Since the arrest of the pair it has been learned that Meiers has a criminal record. His real name is P. N. Van Sickel, his home is in New Lexington, O., and he was formerly a Wagner car conductor. He was convicted a year ago in Reading, Pa., of obtaining employment by means of forged letters, and served a sentence of three months in the Berks county jail. He was also convicted last May in New York city of forging the name of L. E. Rossiter, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, for which he served a short term in the Kings county jail. He was at the same time indicted for another forgery in New York, but escaped through a legal technicality.

The men were prosecuted by T. E. Brodbelt, special agent of the Central Passenger association; Joseph J. Doran, Philadelphia, general solicitor of the Norfolk & Western, and John H. Coulter, of Chicago, were the attorneys for the railroads, and Assistant State's Attorney Olsen appeared for the state.

The witnesses heard were L. E. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va., general manager of the Norfolk & Western; J. C. Moorhead, of Cleveland, O., general manager of the Erie, and A. L. Bliss, of Cleveland, O., chief clerk of the Nickel Plate.—From the Chicago Inter-Ocean, November 28th, 1900.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN.

The Christmas Exercises Held There on Monday Evening Were Very Enjoyable.

The Christmas exercises at the Second Presbyterian church on Monday evening passed off very pleasantly. The superintendent of the Sunday school, E. D. Moore, presided and made a few introductory remarks. Rev. James N. Swan led in prayer. Very interesting and appropriate impromptu addresses were made by Freeman W. McCain and James S. Noah. Little Pauline Lemon very cleverly gave a recitation. Rev. Charles W. Swan gave a very interesting address, in which he compared the blessings enjoyed by the children of America with the state of affairs in China, where one day is the same as another, no Christmas, no Sunday nor Sunday school, except as the people are taught the Christian religion, through the efforts of the missionaries, in whom he said he knew the children and others of this school are interested. Mr. Swan had with him a Chinese idol which he exhibited. It was not a pretty thing, but, he said, the Chinese idols are nearly always hideous, their idea being that if the god be ugly it will be better able to frighten away evil spirits. The pastor of the church followed Mr. Swan with an exceedingly interesting and helpful address, giving the congregation a hearty Christmas greeting, in which he feelingly alluded to the many tokens of love and kindness shown to him and his family by the congregation. It is very refreshing to note the bond of sympathy and co-operation between the pastor and people of the church. Mr. Crowe took charge of the distribution of books, some 15 of which were given out to as many members of the Sunday school who were present every Sunday during the year. Candles and nuts were distributed to every person present and the teachers took charge of the boxes for those who were not in attendance. After spending an hour very enjoyable the congregation dispersed after singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction.

In addition to the forging and selling of employees' passes, for which the men were arrested, they had another method of obtaining transportation. They would present to the passenger agent of a railroad a forged letter from the head of another road, asking for trip passes for two employees of the foreign road. When this letter was honored by the issuance of the requested passes, the pasteboards would be promptly sold to a scalper. Meiers told of getting six return passes to important western points in this manner. They were sold to Bill Nye, a Chicago scalper, for $210, and were recovered from him, after the arrest of Meiers and Jones by the railroads interested.

Meiers and Jones worked in one city after another through the country, and it was due to the vigilance of Central Passenger association officials who were on the lookout for them, that they were caught when they appeared here. They ordered bogus autograph stamps from A. W. Martin & Co., makers of rubber stamps, who reported the order to the passenger association. The forgers depended on the possession of false stamps and of paper and passes printed by themselves for their success.

Five Indictments.

There were five indictments against the men, but when they pleaded guilty to the charge of forging a pass over the Norfolk & Western the other indictments were dropped.

Since the arrest of the pair it has been learned that Meiers has a criminal record. His real name is P. N. Van Sickle, his home is in New Lexington, O., and he was formerly a Wagner car conductor. He was convicted a year ago in Reading, Pa., of obtaining employment by means of forged letters, and served a sentence of three months in the Berks county jail. He was also convicted last May in New York city of forging the name of L. E. Rossiter, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, for which he served a short term in the Kings county jail. He was at the same time indicted for another forgery in New York, but escaped through a legal technicality.

The men were prosecuted by T. E. Brodbelt, special agent of the Central Passenger association; Joseph J. Doran, Philadelphia, general solicitor of the Norfolk & Western, and John H. Coulter, of Chicago, were the attorneys for the railroads, and Assistant State's Attorney Olsen appeared for the state.

The witnesses heard were L. E. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va., general manager of the Norfolk & Western; J. C. Moorhead, of Cleveland, O., general manager of the Erie, and A. L. Bliss, of Cleveland, O., chief clerk of the Nickel Plate.—From the Chicago Inter-Ocean, November 28th, 1900.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN.

The Christmas Exercises Held There on Monday Evening Were Very Enjoyable.

The Christmas exercises at the Second Presbyterian church on Monday evening passed off very pleasantly. The superintendent of the Sunday school, E. D. Moore, presided and made a few introductory remarks. Rev. James N. Swan led in prayer. Very interesting and appropriate impromptu addresses were made by Freeman W. McCain and James S. Noah. Little Pauline Lemon very cleverly gave a recitation. Rev. Charles W. Swan gave a very interesting address, in which he compared the blessings enjoyed by the children of America with the state of affairs in China, where one day is the same as another, no Christmas, no Sunday nor Sunday school, except as the people are taught the Christian religion, through the efforts of the missionaries, in whom he said he knew the children and others of this school are interested. Mr. Swan had with him a Chinese idol which he exhibited. It was not a pretty thing, but, he said, the Chinese idols are nearly always hideous, their idea being that if the god be ugly it will be better able to frighten away evil spirits. The pastor of the church followed Mr. Swan with an exceedingly interesting and helpful address, giving the congregation a hearty Christmas greeting, in which he feelingly alluded to the many tokens of love and kindness shown to him and his family by the congregation. It is very refreshing to note the bond of sympathy and co-operation between the pastor and people of the church. Mr. Crowe took charge of the distribution of books, some 15 of which were given out to as many members of the Sunday school who were present every Sunday during the year. Candies and nuts were distributed to every person present and the teachers took charge of the boxes for those who were not in attendance. After spending an hour very enjoyable the congregation dispersed after singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction.

1,000,000 WOMEN RELIEVED

Reports received show that Wine of Cardui has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 suffering women in the last few years. Because of Wine of Cardui, thousands of sufferers, seemingly on the way to premature graves, are now healthy women taking an active interest in the duties of life. Mrs. Mitchell was declining in health when Wine of Cardui "performed a miraculous cure" in her case. She suffered terribly with the agonies of falling of the womb, leucorrhoea and profuse menstruation. The weekly appearance of the menses for two months sapped her vitality until she was little better than a physical wreck. Her nervous system gave way under the terrible pain and aggravation. Then came the trial of Wine of Cardui and the cure. Mrs. Mitchell's experience ought to commend Wine of Cardui to suffering women in words of burning eloquence. The Wine is within the reach of all. Woman who try it are relieved. You can get as much benefit as Mrs. Mitchell received. Ask your druggist for Wine of Cardui. Send to the laboratory for the medicine if he tenders you a substitute.

WINE OF CARDUI

South Gaston, N. C., May 29, 1899. Wine of Cardui and Theobald's Black-Draught have performed a miraculous cure in my case. I have been a great sufferer from falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and my menses came every week for two months and became very painful. I was in a bad condition. My husband induced me to try Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught, and now I have no pain. The leucorrhoea has disappeared and now I am in perfect health. Mrs. WILLIE MITCHELL.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN IN CHILDREN'S HOME.

Very Pleasant Time Had by All the Children, Who Enjoyed the Program.

Alliance Review.

An entrancing Christmas entertainment occurred at Fairmount Children's Home this afternoon in which the charming cantata, "Johnny Doubter," was rendered.

A large audience of visitors from all points attended and all most heartily enjoyed the happy occasion.

The large recitation hall was exquisitely decorated for the occasion, and when the bright faced children appeared, the picture was one of rare attractiveness. The cantata represented a little boy named Johnny, who did not believe in Santa Claus. Juveniles representing all the nations of the globe then appeared and each testified in verse to the fact that Santa Claus actually exists. By and by Johnny Doubter became convinced and all was happiness.

Two splendid drills were given, the performers in one being the older girls, and the other being given by boys. The Misses Fleming and Barker played a fine piano duet. The two little colored pupils, Lizzie Wilson, aged 5, and Maggie Wilson, aged 4, sang pleasing selections.

Superintendent Southworth received countless congratulations upon the excellence of his entertainment.

He was visited December 11 by Detective Kelly, and gave the detective a reading in palmistry, announcing that Kelly was 'under a lucky star, and was certain to attain riches within a few years.' Dietrich said he charged no specific sum for his services, but would accept anything given him. Kelly gave up 50 cents.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1900.

DON'T CRINGE.

Be a man. Don't grovel or cringe to any other human creature, no matter what may be the position or wealth of that piece of human clay. An honest Christian man, loving God and humanity, bows down to and worships nothing short of the Infinite. Be a man, in the fullest sense of the term.

WHITE CHRISTMAS.

The general impression was that a "green" Christmas would hold sway in this year of 1900. Joy and jubilation rang forth on Christmas morn, when it was discovered that the "beautiful" had been sent down to us by the Master during the passing night. God speed peace and prosperity as the follower of our "white" Christmas.

ELECTRICITY.

The law should compel great care in the control of this terribly dangerous element. Electricity has been proven a wonderful power when properly harnessed and groomed. But unskillful hands should not be permitted to care for it or attend to it in any manner. Fatal accidents are an everyday occurrence through the instrumentality of the careless handling of this awful power. Action should be taken by our city council looking to safeguards along this line.

SALVATION ARMY.

The officers and rank and file of the Salvation Army deserve great credit for the part they have taken in feeding the poor and the needy on Christmas day. It is true that they received aid and assistance in their good work from a generous public and from practical lovers of sweet charity; but the Army was the prime mover in the work of practical Christianity and good Samaritanism, and the world at large will echo the plaudits of "well done, good and faithful servants."

CHIEF OF POLICE.

Chief of Police Devery is now held responsible for much of the crime and vice which has held and is still holding sway in New York city. Men who hold such positions of power, and who prove recreant to the trust reposed in them by the citizens at large, should be made to face hot punishment at the hands of an outraged law when detected in their nefarious practices. The man or men who occupy positions of trust as guardians of the peace, and who connive at crime, drunkenness and debauchery, and who shield rather than expose criminals and lawbreakers, are the most despicable and contemptible rascals unhung. They are perjurers and liars, beneath the notice of any honest man or woman; playthings for blood suckers and ward heelers and the saloon and liquor league, in company with street walkers and keepers of bawdy houses. The nemesis known as Justice is on their trail, all over the land, and exposure and disgrace are sure to follow. Turn on the light.

DEATH TO RUM.

This be the watchword and the battle slogan of all men and women in this great nation who love God and humanity and who long, with supreme longing, for the advance of Christian civilization and the downfall of sin, iniquity, crime and disorder. The News Review, Republican from center to circumference, flings defiance, in the name of God, in the face of the liquor league of the land and of the infamous license system, and advocates the dissolution of the partnership now existing between the government and the liquor league. Speed the day, oh God, when the mandate shall go forth from the national halls of legislation forbidding the manufacture and sale of any and all intoxicating drinks. Death to Rum.

HONEST EMPLOYEES.

The council which passed the ordinance that city employees should pay their honest debts is worthy of warm commendation in this special feature. The ordinance provides that, in case an employee owes money, and will not pay the same, the city clerk shall retain one-fourth of his wages each month, and apply the same to the liquidation of said indebtedness. If an employee is an honest man, he will make no demur. If a rascal and a scoundrel and a dead beat, he will enter hot protest against such a measure, and make use of every known trickery and chicanery and legal subterfuge in order to defeat the ends of justice. One councilman now on duty asserts that there is a possibility that the ordinance will not stand the test of legality, and that he would like to see the matter brought to an issue, as he does not believe in having our solons bothered with every little bill which an employee may owe and which he refuses to pay. We would simply suggest to the said councilman that there is a very easy way to avoid all this trouble and annoyance, namely: Employ none but honest men, men who will pay their debts voluntarily, and not under the lash of compulsion. In the meantime, we can assure the said councilman that the vexed question as to the ordinance will be settled in the very near future.

COMMENDATORY.

A writer over the signature of "Rutledge" spoke out in meetin' in our issue of last Monday respecting the illegal blockading of streets and sidewalks in East Liverpool, especially condemning the blockade on Walnut street, between Forest and Kossuth streets. Mr. Monroe Patterson, president of the Patterson Foundry and Machine company, where the blockade in question is located, commends "Rutledge" for his article, and states that the blockade will be removed at once, informing us that the dirt placed on the street was the result of internal improvement, and that it would have been removed at once, had not the teamster in charge been so unfortunate as to have one of his teams incapacitated for active work for the time being. He further states that part of the blockade has been caused by the failure of certain parties to remove finished products. Mr. Patterson deserves commendation for his pleasant manner of complying with the law.

NEW CLERK TO BE SELECTED

Miss Agnes Plunkett has resigned her position as clerk in the postoffice to take effect December 31.

Miss Plunkett has had charge of the general delivery window and has been a clerk in the postoffice for several years. She was one of the most obliglearn that she has decided to retire.

Miss Plunkett will long be remembered by every person connected with the

The letter announcing the resigna-of a surprise to Postmaster Surles, but he responded to the resignation as fol-

SMALL FIRE.

Captain Terrence Arrived in Time to Prevent a Blaze at William Pat-

A small fire occurred at the resi-tain Terrence was passing at the time, and was not long in putting out the blaze.

The blaze was caused by the hose

nited.

No damage was done other than the burning of a rug and a small hole in the carpet.

A Valued Present.

George Messenger yesterday presented Captain Terrence and his men

SOUTH SIDE.

STILL AT IT.

The Southside Horse Case Has Not
Been Settled And Fulton Wont
Compromise.

It appears the troubles occasioned
by the litigation between George Ar-
ner and George Fulton will not down.
Fulton is determined to have his team
and will accept no compromise, while Arner is just as determined that he will hold enough of his opponent's
property to cover the debt of $21 80.

Mr. Arner decided on Saturday that one horse would be enough to cover
the amount, and decided to return one
of them, together with the harness,
but Fulton refused to accept the compromise, assenting that he would have the whole outfit ere long.

Mr. Arner now says he will make no further effort to settle the matter, and if there is any more propositions to be made they must come from the other.

Skating tonight. West End Park.

Southside Notes.

Ollie Earl has returned from a visit to friends in Salineville.

Elmer Dornan and T. T. Bambrick

PRINCES ARRESTED.

China Takes Tuan and Chiang Into Custody.

AWFUL MURDERS OF MISSIONARIES

Another Atrocious Affair Reported. Prince Ching Receives Note From the Powers—Dispatched to the Court, With Promise of Quick Action on It.

London, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Peking to a news agency here, dated Dec. 24, says missionaries state that Boxers, 35 miles east of Peking, killed 12 Catholics and burned eight in the temples.

Peking, Dec. 26.—The preliminary joint note was delivered Monday to the Chinese. Li Hung Chang found that he was unable to attend the meeting of the ministers, and his credentials and those of Prince Ching were presented by the latter to the foreign envoys.

Prince Ching, replying to the Spanish minister, Senor B. J. De Cologan, who presented the note, said he would immediately communicate its contents to the emperor, and assured the ministers that a speedy reply was the desire of the court, as it felt that all China wants peace and prosperity.

London, Dec. 26.—According to a news agency dispatch from Peking, dated Dec. 24, the foreign ministers there are unanimously of the opinion that China will accept the conditions imposed by the joint note of the powers within a month. The note was started on its way to the dowager empress and the emperor immediately after its presentation, the dispatch says, but wire communication is slow and probably will not reach them until Dec. 27.

London, Dec. 26.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Dec. 24, says:

"The government has arrested Prince Tuan and Prince Ching on the borders of the Shan Si and Shen Si provinces. Yu Hsien has been ordered to return to Shan Si forthwith to be executed, it is supposed.

"It is inferred from these reports that the imperial authorities are preparing to concede the demands of the joint note for the punishment of the instigators of the trouble in China."

Paris, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to the Havas agency, made public Dec. 25, from Peking said:

The ministers assembled at the residence of Senor B. J. De Cologan (the Spanish minister and the doyen of the diplomatic corps) and received Prince Ching, to whom the Spanish minister handed the joint note of the powers. Li Hung Chang, who is still ill, asked to be excused. Prince Ching said:

"I have the honor to accept the note concerning the re-establishment of good relations and will transmit it immediately to the emperor and communicate to you his reply as soon as received."

W. IRVING SHAW SUICIDED.

All Health Supposed Cause—Recently Appointed Consul General to Singapore. Suicided in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—W. Irving Shaw, who had been filling the position of United States consul at Barranquilla, Colombia, and who was recently appointed consul general to Singapore, committed suicide in a hotel here. His health is supposed to have effected his mind.

After receiving the appointment he decided that it would be necessary to return to Barranquilla to settle his affairs. He left the home of his sister in Germantown, near here, where he had been staying, over two weeks ago and sailed from New York on the steamer Altal.

That was the last heard of him until he was found dead.

Mr. Shaw was about 38 years old. He was born in Clearfield county, Pa., where he practiced law for several years. He was a warm personal friend of former Governor Hastings and many other prominent state officials.

His widow and two little sons are at State College where they were to remain until the husband and father should return from Barranquilla.

PROBABLY ABDUCTION CLUES

Pony Found Believed to Have Belonged to Have Belonged to One of Men. A Lantern Identified.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to a local paper from Omaha contained the following, in part:

Another important development in the Cudahy kidnapping case has been reported to the police in the discovery in a barn near Pacific Junction, Ia., 23 miles south and just across the river, of a pony answering the description of the one ridden by one of the abductors. It was left there apparently by some agent of the fugitives. The saddle was in a neighboring barn and a pair of trousers was in the shed in which the pony had been abandoned.

E. A. Cudahy, speaking of the case last night, said:

"There are some important developments, but for obvious reasons I cannot state them for publication. The detectives have found some clues that seem to point in the right direction. I think the discovery of the lantern which marked the place where I deposited the ransom is an important clue. The lantern has been identified by Pat McGraw, who was with me when I deposited the money. A more important clue, however, will be in hand when we get the horse which one of the men used on the night of the kidnapping. A horse answering the description has been picked up near Pacific Junction and the animal will be brought to Omaha. If this proves to be the horse used by the kidnapers it ought to aid us.

"The published story that there were only two men implicated in the crime is incorrect, because two men were in the buggy that carried off my boy and a third man followed on horseback. My son thinks he could identify only one of the kidnapers—the one who remained with him in the house. This man talked a great deal and Eddie thinks he could identify him by his voice."

BOX OF CARTRIDGES FOUND.

Like One Believed to Have Passed Through Late Goebel's Body.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 26.—One of the clerks in the state auditor's office, in searching the vault for old records, found a cartridge box containing eight metal patched smokeless powder cartridges, .38-55 calibre, corresponding exactly to the bullet found in the hackberry tree and which was believed to have passed through Senator Goebel's body.

The significance of the discovery lies in the fact that Henry Youtsey, convicted of participation in the Goebel assassination in October, was a clerk in the auditor's office at the time of the assassination, and had access to the vault where the cartridges were found, and that George Barnes, another clerk in the office, testified he saw Youtsey with a box of cartridges.

FUNERAL OF MORRIS.

Murdered Man's Remains Placed in a Vault in a Cemetery at Cleveland.

Brief funeral services were held within the chapel at Lakeview cemetery, which were attended by quite a number of the friends and acquaintances of the family. The body was placed in a vault. Among the many floral tributes was one from the clerks in the war department.

HOMAGE TO CHRIST.

Hanna Says Christmas Should Be Consecrated.

SPEAKS AT SALVATION ARMY FEAST

About 1,500 Poor Persons Had Sat Down to the Dinner—Army's Work Commended—Should Have the Support of All Good Citizens, the Senator Says.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Christmas day the Salvation Army fed about 1,500 poor people in the Gray's armory. Senator Hanna, who is a staunch friend of the Salvation Army, was present. He made a short speech, in which he said:

"Christmas should be a happy day, consecrated to the highest sentiments of true happiness. It should be confined to no class, or sect, but be consecrated to him who came to earth for all men.

"It is a happy day, made happy by these kind and noble men and women, whom I call practical Christians. I am glad to have occasion to express my appreciation of the Salvation Army. It is the kindergarten of Christianity.

"It fulfills the needs that other institutions fail to fill. It gives an opportunity to those who have none; it lays the foundation of law and good order; it advances higher civilization and the city of Cleveland is fortunate in having such a band of Christian workers. This labor, to be entirely successful, should have the support of all good citizens; therefore, my friends, renew your allegiance and give your support to this grand work. 'May God bless all those in this labor and may we all join in the fulfillment of the higher promise.'"

Baskets of provisions were also sent to 500 poor families. In the evening, in the armory, there was an entertainment, with two immense Christmas trees, loaded with presents for poor children. About 2,000 poor people were present.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—Inmates of the various eleemosynary and corrective institutions of the city enjoyed Christmas along with the rest of the world. There were special celebrations, in all of which religious services were a feature. The Post Dispatch provided 15,000 dinners for the poor in different parts of the city.

New York, Dec. 26.—It was estimated that more money was spent in Xmas gifts this year in New York than ever before, and the same is true in regard to charitable gifts. It was only because a case of destitution was kept hidden that the unfortunate was not supplied with Christmas cheer.

Of all the set Christmas feasts that of the Salvation Army at Madison Square garden last evening was the largest. A bountiful Christmas dinner was served to about 4,000 persons, men, women and children. The cost was defrayed from a fund of about $8,000 collected by the army, chiefly through the kettles, which for several weeks have hung from tripods in various parts of the city, to receive contributions "to keep the Christmas pot boiling."

PROPOSED WORLD'S FAIR.

Feeling of Confidence Said to Have Been Manifest Among Members of Committee at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—A feeling of confidence among the World's Fair workers was manifest during last week and there was a firm belief that the long looked for incorporation of the Louisiana Purchase Centennial company will soon be an accomplished fact. Just how much addition to the $5,000,000 fund has been made since the enthusiastic meeting on last Tuesday night is not announced, but indications point to it being very large. When the question of celebrating the Louisiana Purchase Centennial was first discussed over three years ago, the objection to a world's fair was the temporary nature of the buildings and the fact that comparatively nothing would remain after the close of the exposition. This objection has been frequently reiterated during the canvass. A plan is being perfected in Paris by a committee appointed for the purpose for providing and utilizing the prominent buildings and features of the exposition which has just closed. Secretary Cox has secured from Paris a manuscript copy of a full report prepared by this committee which answers the objections to a world's fair on the question of its temporary character.

President and Mrs. McKinley Had Guests.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The president and Mrs. McKinley had with them as guests at dinner last evening

Surgeon General and Mrs. Sternberg, Dr. and Mrs. Rixey, Mrs. O. S. Hiestand, General Corbin and Secretary and Mrs. Cortelyou. The president and Mrs. McKinley took two drives out into the country during the day. Secretary and Mrs. Hay, Postmaster General and Mrs. Smith and Representative Payne, of New York, called upon them.

RUSSIAN PAPERS FRIENDLY

Expressed Approval of Senate's Treaty Attitude, Also Our Attitude as to China.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—The Novoe Vremya, discussing the English newspaper indictment of the United States senate for "its unparalleled attempt to overturn the Clayton-Bulwer treaty," said:

"The case is not unusual. Conditions have changed, and the treaty must change, too. Russia afforded an example in 1870 in declaring that she was no longer bound by her promise not to maintain war vessels in the Black sea."

The Bourse Gazette says: "Russia is gratified by America's diplomatic victory over England. Western Europe dislikes the Monroe doctrine because it desires to grab territories everywhere. Russia, which has sympathized with America since her independence, which liquidated American possessions to America, has nothing against the things have grown more cordial in China."

FOR VERY COLD WEATHER.

Permission to Issue Certain Apparel to Soldiers.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The secretary of war has made a decision that in cases where the post commander certifies that it is necessary arctic overshoes, fur gauntlets and caps and woolen mittens may be used at cost prices to enlisted men. It is also provided that canvas mittens, blanket-lined canvas hat and blanket-lined canvas overcoats may be supplied to troops serving in extremely cold regions and also under certain conditions to troops at West Point, N. Y.

The overcoats are to be issued only to men performing guard duty or field service when exposed to weather which would jeopardize life or limbs by freezing. Their overcoats may be fur or blanket-lined canvas.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The comptroller of the currency has approved the application of the following persons to organize "The Peoples National Bank of Latrobe, Pa.," capital, $50,000: Charles R. Smith, George W. McHenry, Philip Doherty, James E. Brennan, Daniel W. Jones and others.

Paroled From Penitentiary.

Montreal, Quebec, Dec. 26.—James Baxter, formerly of Chicago and lately of New York, who was sentenced here some time ago to five years in the penitentiary for his connection with the Banquet Ville Marie frauds, has been released on "conditional pardon" from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary. His wife and friends have been working incessantly for his pardon on account of ill health ever since his conviction. He is suffering from dropsy and his condition is serious.

A Young Girl Missing.

Pueblo, Colo., Dec. 26.—The police failed to unearth any clue to the whereabouts of Maggie Hoel, the young woman who mysteriously disappeared some days ago from her uncle's home near this city. The impression was growing that she left of her own accord. One theory was that the girl fled to avoid fulfilling her marriage engagement, which was set for two or three months ahead.

To Keep Up New Zealand Contingent.

Wellington, N. Z., Dec. 26.—The government has asked the governor, Earl of Ranfurly, to inform Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, that it does not wish the New Zealand contingent in South Africa to be diminished; that drafts will be forwarded to fill the ranks and that additional mounted men will be sent.

APPEAL FOR ARMENIANS.

Revolutionary Committee in the United States Sends Message to President McKinley.

Boston, Dec. 26.—At a convention of representatives of the American revolution federation the following resolution, which was telegraphed to President McKinley, was adopted: "Boston, Dec. 25, 1900.

"To His Excellency, William McKinley, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

"The committees of the American revolutionary federation of this country, in their annual convention assembled in Boston, unanimously congratulate you upon your re-election to the presidency of the United States, and invite your excellency's kind attention to the deplorable condition in which our people in Armenia are perishing and will soon be exterminated if a powerful hand does not come to the rescue of such a nation, which has been the champion of civilization for centuries in Asia Minor.

"In the present complicated situation of European diplomacy the United States is the only nation that has been unselfish and neutral in Oriental affairs, and yet a friend for suffering races; the only nation who can terrorize the great assassin and his bloodthirsty fanatics to save the remainder of their victims from imminent bloodshed.

"Our fathers and brothers gave their lives for the sake of our country and we are all ready to fall in their places, but in this utmost struggle have we not the right to expect assistance from this great republic, which founded its existence upon revolution and which has the inheritance of liberty from Washington and Lincoln.

"Please accept our sincere wishes and assurances of our highest regards."

A RIOT IN INDIANA.

Negroes Took Possession of a Saloon—One Known to Have Been Shot.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 26.—A race war is in progress at Cementville, a small station on the Panhandle road, about five miles north of this city, and serious trouble is expected. The negroes are armed and the whites are keeping within doors to avoid them.

The outbreak began when Lee Ranger and John Redmond, negroes, became intoxicated and started in to intimidate whites. When their insults were resented other negroes joined Ranger and Redmond, and captured Samuel Kendall's saloon. Nearly 20 shots were fired, but no one was hurt.

An appeal by telephone was made to Sheriff Rave for help and he drove to Cementville and to some extent quieted the negroes while he was present.

After his departure another outbreak took place and message after message came to the local police to send men to the town.

Ranger was shot by Kendall, but how badly is not known, as he was carried away and a secret by his companions. Kendall's life was threatened, and about midnight he managed to escape from his store and came direct to this city, awakening Prosecutor Montgomery, and begging him to issue warrants and have deputy sheriffs sworn in to serve them.

The community finally became quiet, the negroes having everything their own way. The whites are intimidated to such an extent that they are using every possible precaution to prevent a collision.

A French Officer Killed.

Tien Tsin, Dec. 26.—A French detachment of 100 left here Dec. 20 for Hung Tsu, 20 miles westward, to search for arms. Approaching a village across a frozen creek, a force of Boxers opened fire, killing Lieutenant Contal and wounding another officer. The French burned the village.

"It fulfills the needs that other institutions fail to fill. It gives an opportunity to those who have none; it lays the foundation of law and good order; it advances higher civilization and the city of Cleveland is fortunate in having such a band of Christian workers. This labor, to be entirely successful, should have the support of all good citizens; therefore, my friends, renew your allegiance and give your support to this grand work.

"May God bless all those in this labor and may we all join in the fulfillment of the higher promise."

Baskets of provisions were also sent to 500 poor families. In the evening, in the armory, there was an entertainment, with two immense Christmas trees, loaded with presents for poor children. About 2,000 poor people were present.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—Inmates of the various eleemosynary and corrective institutions of the city enjoyed Christmas along with the rest of the world. There were special celebrations, in all of which religious services were a feature. The Post Dispatch provided 15,000 dinners for the poor in different parts of the city.

New York, Dec. 26.—It was estimated that more money was spent in Xmas gifts this year in New York than ever before, and the same is true in regard to charitable gifts. It was only because a case of destitution was kept hidden that the unfortunate were not supplied with Christmas cheer.

Of all the set Christmas feasts that of the Salvation Army at Madison Square garden last evening was the largest. A beautiful Christmas dinner was served to about 4,000 persons, men, women and children. The cost was defrayed from a fund of about $8,000 collected by the army, chiefly through the kettles, which for several weeks have hung from tripods in various parts of the city, to receive contributions "to keep the Christmas pot boiling."

PROPOSED WORLD'S FAIR.

Feeling of Confidence Said to Have Been Manifest Among Members of Committee at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—A feeling of confidence among the World's Fair workers was manifest during last week and there was a firm belief that the long looked for incorporation of the Louisiana Purchase Centennial company will soon be an accomplished fact. Just how much addition to the $5,000,000 fund has been made since to enthusiastic meeting on last Tuesday night is not announced, but indications point to it being very large. When the question of celebrating the Louisiana Purchase Centennial was first discussed over three years ago, the objection to a world's fair was the temporary nature of the buildings and the fact that comparatively nothing would remain after the close of the exposition. This objection has been frequently reiterated during the canvass. A plan is being perfected in Paris by a committee appointed for the purpose for providing and utilizing the prominent buildings and features of the exposition which has just closed. Secretary Cox has secured from Paris a manuscript copy of a full report prepared by this committee which answers the objections to a world's fair on the question of its temporary character.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—The Novoe Vremya, discussing the English newspaper indictment of the United States senate for "its unparalleled attempt to overturn the Clayton-Bulwer treaty," said: "The case is not unusual. Conditions have changed, and the treaty must change, too. Russia afforded an example in 1870 in declaring that she was no longer bound by her promise not to maintain war vessels in the Black sea."

The Bourse Gazette says: "Russia is gratified by America's diplomatic victory over England. Western Europe dislikes the Monroe doctrine because it desires to grab territories everywhere. Russia, which has sympathized with America since her independence, which liquidated American possessions to America, has nothing against the thies have grown more cordial in China."

Boston, Dec. 26.—At a convention of representatives of the American revolution fed ration the following resolution, which was telegraphed to President McKinley, was adopted: "Boston, Dec. 25, 1900.

"To His Excellency, William McKinley, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

"The committees of the American revolutionary federation of this country, in their annual convention assembled in Boston, unanimously congratulate you upon your re-election to the presidency of the United States, and invite your excellency's kind attention to the deplorable condition in which our people in Armenia are perishing and will soon be exterminated if a powerful hand does not come to the rescue of such a nation, which has been the champion of civilization for centuries in Asia Minor.

"In the present complicated situation of European diplomacy the United States is the only nation that has been unselfish and neutral in Oriental affairs, and yet a friend for suffering races; the only nation who can terrorize the great assassin and his bloodthirsty fanatics to save the remainder of their victims from imminent bloodshed.

"Our fathers and brothers gave their lives for the sake of our country and we are all ready to fall in their places, but in this utmost struggle have we not the right to expect assistance from this great republic, which founded its existence upon revolution and which has the inheritance of liberty from Washington and Lincoln.

A RIOT IN INDIANA.

Negroes Took Possession of a Saloon—One Known to Have Been Shot.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 26.—A race war is in progress at Cementville, a small station on the Panhandle road, about five miles north of this city, and serious trouble is expected. The negroes are armed and the whites are keeping within doors to avoid them.

The outbreak began when Lee Ranger and John Redmond, negroes, became intoxicated and started in to intimidate whites. When their insults were resented, other negroes joined Ranger and Redmond, and captured Samuel Kendall's saloon. Nearly 20 shots were fired, but no one was hurt.

An appeal by telephone was made to Sheriff Rave for help and he drove to Cementville and to some extent quieted the negroes while he was present.

After his departure another outbreak took place and message after message came to the local police to send men to the town.

Ranger was shot by Kendall, but how badly is not known, as he was carried away and secreted by his companions. Kendall's life was threatened, and about midnight he managed to escape from his store and came direct to this city, awakening Prosecutor Montgomery, and begging him to issue warrants and have deputy sheriffs sworn in to serve them.

The community finally became quiet, the negroes having everything their own way. The whites are intimidated to such an extent that they are using every possible precaution to prevent a collision.

PRINCES ARRESTED.

China Takes Tuan and Chiang Into Custody.

AWFUL MURDERS OF MISSIONARIES

Another Atrocious Affair Reported. Prince Ching Receives Note From the Powers—Dispatched to the Court, With Promise of Quick Action on It.

London, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Peking to a news agency here, dated Dec. 24, says missionaries state that Boxers, 35 miles east of Peking, killed 12 Catholics and burned eight in the temples.

Peking, Dec. 26.—The preliminary joint note was delivered Monday to the Chinese. Li Hung Chang found that he was unable to attend the meeting of the ministers, and his credentials and those of Prince Ching were presented by the latter to the foreign envoys.

Prince Ching, replying to the Spanish minister, Senor B. J. De Cologan, who presented the note, said he would immediately communicate its contents to the emperor, and assured the ministers that a speedy reply was the desire of the court, as it felt that all China wants peace and prosperity.

London, Dec. 26.—According to a news agency dispatch from Peking, dated Dec. 24, the foreign ministers there are unanimously of the opinion that China will accept the conditions imposed by the joint note of the powers within a month. The note was started on its way to the dowager empress and the emperor immediately after its presentation, the dispatch says, but wire communication is slow and probably will not reach them until Dec. 27.

London, Dec. 26.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Dec. 24, says:

"The government has arrested Prince Tuan and Prince Ching on the borders of the Shan Si and Shen Si provinces. Yu Hsien has been ordered to return to Shan Si forthwith to be executed, it is supposed.

"It is inferred from these reports that the imperial authorities are preparing to concede the demands of the joint note for the punishment of the instigators of the trouble in China."

Paris, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to the Havas agency, made public Dec. 25, from Peking said:

The ministers assembled at the residence of Senor B. J. De Cologan (the Spanish minister and the doyen of the diplomatic corps) and received Prince Ching, to whom the Spanish minister handed the joint note of the powers. Li Hung Chang, who is still ill, asked to be excused. Prince Ching said:

"I have the honor to accept the note concerning the re-establishment of good relations and will transmit it immediately to the emperor and communicate to you his reply as soon as received."

W. IRVING SHAW SUICIDED.

All Health Supposed Cause—Recently Appointed Consul General to Singapore. Suicided in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—W. Irving Shaw, who had been filling the position of United States consul at Barranquilla, Colombia, and who was recently appointed consul general to Singapore, committed suicide in a hotel here. His health is supposed to have affected his mind.

After receiving the appointment he decided that it would be necessary to return to Barranquilla to settle his affairs. He left the home of his step-mother in Georgetown, near here, where he had been staying, over two weeks ago and sailed from New York on the steamer Altal.

That was the last heard of him until he was found dead.

Mr. Shaw was about 38 years old. He was born in Clearfield county, Pa., where he practiced law for several years. He was a warm personal friend of former Governor Hastings and many other prominent state officials.

His widow and two little sons are at State College where they were to remain until the husband and father should return from Barranquilla.

PROBABLY ABDUCTION CLUES

Pony Found Believed to Have Belonged to Have Belonged to One of Men. A Lantern Identified.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to a local paper from Omaha contained the following, in part:

Another important development in the Cudahy kidnaping case has been reported to the police in the discovery in a barn near Pacific Junction la., 23 miles south and just across the river, of a pony answering the description of the one ridden by one of the abductors. It was left there apparently by some agent of the fugitives. The saddle was in a neighboring barn and a pair of trousers was in the shed in which the pony had been abandoned.

E. A. Cudahy, speaking of the case last night, said:

"There are some important developments, but for obvious reasons I cannot state them for publication. The detectives have found some clues that seem to point in the right direction. I think the discovery of the lantern which marked the place where I deposited the ransom is an important clue. The lantern has been identified by Pat McGraw, who was with me when I deposited the money. A more important clue, however, will be in hand when we get the horse which one of the men used on the night of the kidnaping. A horse answering the description has been picked up near Pacific Junction and the animal will be brought to Omaha. If this proves to be the horse used by the kidnapers it ought to aid us.

"The published story that there were only two men implicated in the crime is incorrect, because two men were in the buggy that carried off my boy and a third man followed on horseback. My son thinks he could identify only one of the kidnapers—the one who remained with him in the house. This man talked a great deal and Eddie thinks he could identify him by his voice."

BOX OF CARTRIDGES FOUND.

Like One Believed to Have Passed Through Late Goebel's Body.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 26.—One of the clerks in the state auditor's office, in searching the vault for old records, found a cartridge box containing eight metal patched smokeless powder cartridges, .33-55 calibre, corresponding exactly to the bullet found in the hackberry tree and which was believed to have passed through Senator Goebel's body.

The significance of the discovery lies in the fact that Henry Youtsey, convicted of participation in the Goebel assassination in October, was a clerk in the auditor's office at the time of the assassination, and had access to the vault where the cartridges were found, and that George Barnes, another clerk in the office, testified he saw Youtsey with a box of cartridges.

SPEAKS AT SALVATION ARMY FEAST

About 1,500 Poor Persons Had Sat Down to the Dinner—Army's Work Commended—Should Have the Support of All Good Citizens, the Senator Says.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Christmas day the Salvation Army fed about 1,500 poor people in the Gray's armory. Senator Hanna, who is a staunch friend of the Salvation Army, was present. He made a short speech, in which he said:

"Christmas should be a happy day, consecrated to the highest sentiments of true happiness. It should be confined to no class, or sect, but be consecrated to him who came to earth for all men.

"It is a happy day, made happy by these kind and noble men and women, whom I call practical Christians. I am glad to have occasion to express my appreciation of the Salvation Army. It is the kindergarten of Christianity.

"It fulfills the needs that other institutions fail to fill. It gives an opportunity to those who have none; it lays the foundation of law and good order; it advances higher civilization and the city of Cleveland is fortunate in having such a band of Christian workers. Being Hit on Head, He Started on a Rampage.

HOMICIDE FRENZY DUE TO LIQUOR

Five Deaths May Be the Result—Terrible Use of His Winchester—Murderer Run Down by a Posse, Severely Wounded in Arm, and Taken Prisoner.

Muskogee, I. T., Dec. 26.—John Tiger, a full blood Indian, a ferryman on the Arkansas river two miles south of Eufaula, went to Eufaula with his wife, and while intoxicated met L. S. Roper and threatened to kill him. Roper immediately struck Tiger with a board, no words passing between them. Tiger went to his buggy, procured a Winchester and came back to kill Roper, but failed to find him. Enraged, he proceeded to shoot every one he saw, shooting Jesse Beck through the hips and killing him; shooting and killing Dave Porter, a nephew of Chief Porter, and a mover named Johnson, on his way to Missouri in a cow red wagon with his family. Bud Taylor, aged 18, a boy, was shot through the shoulder and is not expected to live. Tiger immediately jumped on a horse and tried to escape, but was pursued. Tiger was chased three miles, when he jumped off his horse, went behind a tree and began shooting. Deputy Marshal Johnson, who returned the fire, struck Tiger in the arm. The murderer surrendered and was brought to Eufaula. Tiger's arm will have to be amputated. Great indignation prevails over the free sale of liquors and firearms. J. Smith, who lives two miles south of Checotah, became involved in a quarrel with T. Thompson over the affair at Eufaula and began shooting. Thompson being mortally wounded.

LOBBY ON THE OTHER SIDE.

Hanna's Reply to Accusations of There Being Lobbying For Ship Bill.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Senator Hanna was informed of a statement which is in circulation to the effect that there was a powerful lobby in favor of the subsidizing of American shipping at the Philadelphia convention and in Washington.

"The only lobby of that kind that I know anything about," said the senator, "is a lobby of foreign steamship companies, which is trying to defeat the bill. There was no lobby at Philadelphia at all. The subsidy bill is a business measure and there is no desire to force it through congress. We want it to go through on its merits. It has now been three years in preparation and has been amended 20 times. The president in all his messages has urged the necessity of some such measure and it was made a plank in the St. Louis platform and the Philadelphia platform. The details are left to congress to work out."

TURNED OVER SOME JEWELS

Mrs. Alvord Made Partial Restitution. Trial of Her Husband to Commence Today.

New York, Dec. 26.—The trial of Cornelius Alvord, Jr., defaulting cashier of the First National bank of this city, is set for today, in the United States district court. The amount of his defalcation was $690,000.

One of the interesting features of the trial and which in all probability will be brought out by the United States district attorney in his examination, is the amount of restitution of the stolen funds made up to this time. The officers of the First National bank have been reticent upon this point ever since Alvord's arrest. The sale of his effects in his home in Mount Vernon amounted to very little. Where the bank really made good part of its loss was, it is said, in the turning over of Mrs. Alvord's jewels.

Their value has been estimated at not less than $150,000 and the story goes that they were taken to the bank and placed in the custody of one of the officers, who locked them up in a strong box until they could be appraised and sold. How long these gems were in the possession of Mrs. Alvord is not known. It is said she has had them for three or four years, and that they were presents from her husband. The whole story is expected to come out before the prosecution closes its case.

Upon seeing his condition Moses Lafromble disappeared and a little later was discovered hanging from the limb of a tree near the barn. He was cut down before life was extinct. Pipylar is in a fair way to recover. Lafromble is under arrest to await the result of the injuries to Pipylar.

A PATRIOTIC SCHEME

THE TOWN WAS IN FAVOR OF FLYING THE FLAG PERPETUALLY.

Pap Perkins, Postmaster of Jericho. Tells How Dissension Marred the Discussion of the Proposition and How the Project Ended.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was Enos Hopkins who got the idea that Jericho should prove her patriotism to the world at large by displaying the American flag for seven days a week. He got the idea one Sunday morning as he lay in bed, and he hugged it to his soul and chuckled over it for a week before he said anything to a living soul. Everybody knew by his actions that something was up, but they couldn't figure out exactly what it was. At length, when Saturday night came, and there was the usual crowd at the postoffice, he shot off his gun. He had his speech all prepared. He told how the American flag was first flung to the breeze—how men cheered for liberty as they saw it—how it had given freedom to a continent and brought happiness to millions. Men had fought cheerfully for that flag, and men had died for it. He wanted it hoisted in Jericho at sunrise every day in the year, and he wanted children to cry for it and men and women to venerate it. Monday was wash day in Jericho, and front yards and back yards made a beautiful show of sheets and shirts and

"HAVE WE NO PUBLIC SPIRIT AMONG US?" towels and tablecloths, but above them all would flap and flap the flag which had covered the heroes of Bunker Hill as they died in the cause of liberty.

As soon as the crowd had recovered from its surprise and begun to cheer Deacon Spooner said it was a mighty strong point and one worthy of a leading patriot of Jericho. He was heartily in favor of the idea, and he would then and there contribute 13 cents toward the purchase of a public flag. He also thought a vote of thanks was due Enos for his cuteness in thinking out the idea. A flapping, flopping flag hoisted to the balmy breezes of Jericho would give the town worldwide fame and probably result in a boom.

Then Hosea Saunders spoke. His grandfather had died while fighting under the stars and stripes. His father had fallen and killed himself while climbing a flagpole. His mother had wrapped him in the flag of liberty when he was born, and he had long thought of having a group of stars tattooed between his shoulders. He loved his wife and children, and he set a heap of value on his boss and cow, but he loved the flag of his country more. It was hard times, and money was tight, but he would go without tobacco for a month in order to contribute a shilling toward the purchase of a flag. With his own hands, if agreeable to all, he would hoist the emblem at sunrise and lower it at sunset during the rest of his natural life.

The deacon said that was also a beautiful speech, with a mighty strong point to it, and the feelings of the crowd had got so worked up over freedom and liberty that tears stood in many eyes. Hosea was followed by Squar Joslyn, Philetus Williams, Abraham White and others, and there was frequent cheering and shaking hands. About ten years ago Abijah Davison's dog tore the ear off a hog owned by Joel Hardman, and the men had been enemies ever since, but the excitement and the patriotic fervor overrode their old animosity. They each other's arms and became fast friends.

ag'in. It was finally settled that a public contribution should be taken up to buy a $15 flag, and then came the question of where it should be raised. Enos Hopkins, who had started it all, got up in a modest way and said he would go to the expense of planting a pole in front of his house. It was on high ground, and the flag could be seen from every house in Jericho.

"We shouldn't put Enos to all that trouble," said Deacon Spooner as he rose up. "He's done his share in thinking out the plan. I'll see that the flag is duly displayed from the roof of my cooper shop when it arrives."

"What's the matter with hoisting it over my grocery?" asked Dan Skinner as he wiped the tears of emotion from his eyes.

"Or with hoisting it over my coal yard?" said Darius Waterman, who calculated to chip in 10 cents and no more.

Then everybody bobbed up and demanded to be heard. Every man present wanted that flag in front of his house or place of business and nowhere else, and pretty soon they were shaking their fists and saying they'd be damned if they wouldn't have it there or refuse to contribute a red cent. There was a lively row on in two minutes, with no more weeping over patriotism. As the row grew hotter Abijah Davison turned to Joel Hardman and said he was glad his dog had bit the ear off that hog and that he'd like to serve Joel the same way. Deacon Spooner rattled on the stovepipe with his cane until he quieted the racket, and then he said:

"Feller patriots, but have we no public spirit among us?"

"We have!" yelled the crowd.

"Then let us exhibit it. Bein my cooper shop is the highest buildin in town and bein the American flag has got to flip-flap in the breeze to be seen and venerated, I unselfishly offer to put up a pole and take charge of the flag."

"So do it!" shouts every man in the crowd.

Then Squar Joslyn made a speech. He told how a million men had died for that flag; how its stars and bars had made tyrants tremble; how a young nation had worshiped it and made all the world respect it. He wound up after ten minutes by offering to float it from his boss barn, but only hisses and groans followed. There was signs that three or four patriots would soon be punching each other's head when Lish Billings strolled in in that careless way of his. Deacon Spooner pounded and rattled till he got order and then said:

"I want to hear from Lish Billings on this matter. Maybe he can suggest something. Lish, what place in Jericho would you say the American flag ought to float from?"

"How many stars are there on the American flag?" calmly asks Lish. Nobody could tell.

"Well, how many stripes?" Nobody could tell.

"Pears to me," said Lish as he started to wander out ag'in—"pears to me that as none of you can tell the difference between the American flag and a tablecloth you'd better hang up an old army blanket most anywhere and let it go at that."

And at the end of five minutes more there wasn't a patriot left in the postoffice, and nothin more has ever been said about buyin a public flag.

INDIAN KILLED THREE

Being Hit on Head, He Started on a Rampage.

HOMICIDE FRENZY DUE TO LIQUOR

Five Deaths May Be the Result—Terrible Use of His Winchester—Murderer Run Down by a Posse, Severely Wounded in Arm, and Taken Prisoner.

Muskogee, I. T., Dec. 26.—John Tiger, a full blood Indian, a ferryman on the Arkansas river two miles south of Eufaula, went to Eufaula with his wife, and while intoxicated met L. S. Roper and threatened to kill him. Roper immediately struck Tiger with a board, no words passing between them. Tiger went to his buggy, procured a Winchester and came back to kill Roper, but failed to find him. Enraged, he proceeded to shoot every one he saw, shooting Jesse Beck through the hips and killing him; shooting and killing Dave Porter, a nephew of Chief Porter, and a mover named Johnson, on his way to Missouri in a cow red wagon with his family. Bud Taylor, aged 18, a boy, was shot through the shoulder and is not expected to live. Tiger immediately jumped on a horse and tried to escape, but was pursued. Tiger was chased three miles, when he jumped off his horse, went behind a tree and began shooting. Deputy Marshal Johnson, who returned the fire, struck Tiger in the arm. The murderer surrendered and was brought to Eufaula. Tiger's arm will have to be amputated. Great indignation prevails over the free sale of liquors and firearms. J. Smith, who lives two miles south of Checotah, became involved in a quarrel with T. Thompson over the affair at Eufaula and began shooting. Thompson being mortally wounded.

BISHOP HALE DEAD.

He Was Coadjutor of Springfield (Ill.) Protestant Episcopal Diocese.

Calro, Ills., Dec. 26.—Rev. Dr. Charles E. Ruben Hale, bishop coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Springfield, died of valvular disease of the heart. Bishop Hale was born in Pennsylvania, March 11, 1837. He had held his present position since 1892. Bishop H. Seymour of Springfield, will officiate at the funeral services, which will probably be held Thursday. Interment will be at Philadelphia, where Mrs. Hale is buried. There are no surviving children.

LOBBY ON THE OTHER SIDE.

Hanna's Reply to Accusations of There Being Lobbying For Ship Bill.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Senator Hanna was informed of a statement which is in circulation to the effect that there was a powerful lobby in favor of the subsidizing of American shipping at the Philadelphia convention and in Washington.

"The only lobby of that kind that I know anything about," said the senator, "is a lobby of foreign steamship companies, which is trying to defeat the bill. There was no lobby at Philadelphia at all. The subsidy bill is a business measure and there is no desire to force it through congress. We want it to go through on its merits. It has now been three years in preparation and has been amended 20 times. The president in all his messages has urged the necessity of some such measure and it was made a plank in the St. Louis platform and the Philadelphia platform. The details are left to congress to work out."

Sothern Again Resumed Work.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—E. H. Sothern, the actor, who for some time was laid up with an accident that necessitated the cancelling of dates all over the country, made his first appearance since the accident, presenting "Pamlet" at the Olympic theater before a crowded house. He was well supported and the production was well received. The interrupted tour will be resumed the company leaving for Chicago next week.

To Join Another Company.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 26.—D. H. Bacon, of Duluth, who has been president of the Minnesota Iron company for the past 10 years, will, on Jan. 1, resign his present position to become chairman of the board of directors of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. Mr. Bacon will reside in New York city and will have the direction and management of all the departments of the company's business.

TURNED OVER SOME JEWELS

Mrs. Alvord Made Partial Restitution. Trial of Her Husband to Commence Today.

New York, Dec. 26.—The trial of Cornelius Alvord, Jr., defaulting cashier of the First National bank of this city, is set for today, in the United States district court. The amount of his defalcation was $690,000.

One of the interesting features of the trial and which in all probability will be brought out by the United States district attorney in his examination, is the amount of restitution of the stolen funds made up to this time. The officers of the First National bank have been reticent upon this point ever since Alvord's arrest. The sale of his effects in his home in Mount Vernon amounted to very little. Where the bank really made good part of its loss was, it is said, in the turning over of Mrs. Alvord's jewels.

Their value has been estimated at not less than $150,000 and the story goes that they were taken to the bank and placed in the custody of one of the officers, who locked them up in a strong box until they could be appraised and sold. How long

these gems were in the possession of Mrs. Alvord is not known. It is said she has had them for three or four years, and that they were presents from her husband. The whole story is expected to come out before the prosecution closes its case.

25,000 DEATHS ESTIMATED.

Lord Curzon Said That Many Had Occurred in Mysore From Bubonic Plague.

Calcutta, Dec. 26.—Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, the viceroy of India, in the course of a speech, said that since the appearance of the bubonic plague in 1898, 25,000 deaths from the disease have occurred in the Mysore state.

TURNED OVER SOME JEWELS

Mrs. Alvord Made Partial Restitution. Trial of Her Husband to Commence Today.

New York, Dec. 26.—The trial of Cornelius Alvord, Jr., defaulting cashier of the First National bank of this city, is set for today, in the United States district court. The amount of his defalcation was $690,000.

One of the interesting features of the trial and which in all probability will be brought out by the United States district attorney in his examination, is the amount of restitution of the stolen funds made up to this time. The officers of the First National bank have been reticent upon this point ever since Alvord's arrest. The sale of his effects in his home in Mount Vernon amounted to very little. Where the bank really made good part of its loss was, it is said, in the turning over of Mrs. Alvord's jewels.

Their value has been estimated at not less than $150,000 and the story goes that they were taken to the bank and placed in the custody of one of the officers, who locked them up in a strong box until they could be appraised and sold. How long these gems were in the possession of Mrs. Alvord is not known. It is said she has had them for three or four years, and that they were presents from her husband. The whole story is expected to come out before the prosecution closes its case.

The Father Found Badly Hurt, Whereupon One Watcher Tried to Suicide.

Upon seeing his condition Moses Lafromble disappeared and a little later was discovered hanging from the limb of a tree near the barn. He was cut down before life was extinct. Pipylar is in a fair way to recover. Lafromble is under arrest to await the result of the inquest on Pipylar.

A PATRIOTIC SCHEME

THE TOWN WAS IN FAVOR OF FLYING THE FLAG PERPETUALLY.

Pap Perkins, Postmaster of Jericho, Tells How Dissension Marred the Discussion of the Proposition and How the Project Ended.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was Enos Hopkins who got the idea that Jericho should prove her patriotism to the world at large by displaying the American flag for seven days a week. He got the idea one Sunday mornin as he lay in bed, and he hugged it to his soul and chuckled over it for a week before he said anything to a livin soul. Everybody knew by his actions that somethin was up, but they couldn't figger out exactly what it was. At length, when Saturday night came, and there was the usual crowd at the postoffice, he shot off his gun. He had his speech all prepared. He told how the American flag was first flung to the breeze—how men cheered for liberty as they saw it—how it had given freedom to a continent and brought happiness to millions. Men had fought cheerin for that flag, and men had died blessin it. He wanted it b'listed in Jericho at sunrise every day in the year, and he wanted children to cry for it and men and women to venerate it. Monday was wash day in Jericho, and front yards and back yards made a beautiful showin of sheets and shirts and towels and tablecloths, but above them all would flap and flop the flag which had covered the heroes of Bunker Hill as they died in the cause of liberty.

As soon as the crowd had recovered from its surprise and begun to cheer Deacon Spooner said it was a mighty strong p'int and one worthy of a leadin patriot of Jericho. He was heartily in favor of the idea, and he would then and there contribute 13 cents toward the purchase of a public flag. He also thought a vote of thanks was due Enos for his cuteness in thinkin out the idea. A flappin, floppin flag b'listed to the balmy breezes of Jericho would give the town worldwide fame and probably result in a boom.

Then Hosea Saunders spoke. His grandfather had died while fightin under the stars and stripes. His father had fallen and killed himself while climbin a flagpole. His mother had wrapped him in the flag of liberty when he was born, and he had long thought of havin a group of stars tattooed between his shoulders. He loved his wife and children, and he set a heap of value on his hoss and cow, but he loved the flag of his country more. It was hard times, and money was tight, but he would go without tobacco for a month in order to contribute a shillin toward the purchase of a flag. With his own hands, if agreeable to all, he would b'list the emblem at sunrise and lower it at sunset durin the rest of his natural life.

The deacon said that was also a beautiful speech, with a mighty strong p'int to it, and the feelin's of the crowd had got so worked up over freedom and liberty that tears stood in many eyes. Hosea was followed by Squar Joslyn, Philetus Williams, Abraham White and others, and there was frequent cheerin and shakin hands. About ten years ago Abijah Davison's dog tore the ear off a hog by Joel Hardman, and the man had been enemies ever since, but the excitement and the patriotic speeches by each other's arms and became friends ag'in. It was finally settled that a public contribution should be taken up to buy a $15 flag, and then came the question of where it should be raised. Enos Hopkins, who had started it all, got up in a modest way and said he would go to the expense of plantin a pole in front of his house. It was on high ground, and the flag could be seen from every house in Jericho.

"We shouldn't put Enos to all that trouble," said Deacon Spooner as he rose up. "He's done his sheer in thinkin out the plan. I'll see that the flag is duly displayed from the roof of my cooper shop when it arrives."

"What's the matter with b'listin it over my grocery?" asked Dan Skinner as he wiped the tears of emotion from his eyes.

"Or with b'listin it over my coal yard?" said Darius Waterman, who calculated to chip in 10 cents and no more.

Then everybody bobbed up and demanded to be heard. Every man present wanted that flag in front of his house or place of business and nowhere else, and purty soon they was shakin their fists and sayin they'd be durned if they wouldn't have it there or refuse to contribute a red cent. There was a lively row on in two minits, with no more weepin over patriotism. As the row grew hotter Abijah Davison turned to Joel Hardman and said he was glad his dog had bit the ear off that hog and that he'd like to serve Joel the same way. Deacon Spooner rattled on the stovepipe with his cane until he quieted the racket, and then he said:

"Feller patriots, but have we no public speech among us?"

"We have!" yelled the crowd.

"Then let us exhibit it. Bein my cooper shop is the highest buildin in town and bein the American flag has got to flip-flap in the breeze to be seen and venerated, I unselfishly offer to put up a pole and take charge of the flag."

"So do I!" shouts every man in the crowd.

Then Squar Joslyn made a speech. He told how a million men had died for that flag; how its stars and bars had made tyrants tremble; how a young nation had worshiped it and made all the world respect it. He wound up after ten minits by offerin to float it from his hoss barn, but only hisses and groans followed. There was sigus that three or four patriots would soon be punchin each other's head when Lish Billings strolled in in that careless way of his. Deacon Spooner pounded and rattled till he got order and then said:

"I want to hear from Lish Billings on this matter. Mebbe he can suggest somethin. Lish, what place in Jericho would you say the American flag ought to float from?"

"How many stars are there on the American flag?" calmly asks Lish.

Nobody could tell.

"Well, how many stripes?"

Nobody could tell.

And at the end of five minits more there wasn't a patriot left in the postoffice, and nothin more has ever been said about buyin a public flag.

A Singular Aliment.

One of the leading alienists of Chicago, with a practice of 50 years behind him, had an experience not long ago that was entirely new to him.

It was near his hour for starting to his lecture class in a West Side school. Three women were in the waiting room. Two of them were willing to make an appointment for the next day. The third one, a stranger, would hear to no delay, and the doctor's assistant showed her in.

"I had my hat in my hand," said the doctor, "and she had been told that I was in a hurry. She came across the room in a most leisurely fashion, however, taking three times as much time as the ordinary person would. She was chewing an unusual wad of gum—a whole package. I should say—and she was chewing it with desperate vigor."

"She sat down slowly, and I asked her a question. She looked straight at me and went on chewing. I spoke again and again, but she sat looking at me and chewing in as much silence as was possible under the circumstances. Finally I said to her:

"Madam, will you kindly stop chewing long enough to answer my questions?"

"Then she burst out, sobbing:" "That's just what I'm here for—I can't stop—I've got to chew—and I've been chewing just this way for more than two years."—Chicago Tribune.

Wheeler's Bravery.

Wheeler's charge at the battle of Shiloh was said by General Grant to be one of the most splendid exhibitions of human bravery he had ever witnessed, and a feat which roused admiration among both armies was when the intrepid little general accomplished the destruction of Rosecrans' provision train after the battle of Chickamauga.

On Dec. 30, 1863, General Wheeler attempted and successfully carried out one of the most daring, perilous and important duties ever assigned a cavalry commander. He crossed the Tennessee river in the face of a division of cavalry under General George Crook, drove back and worsted the troops that guarded the Federal trains of 600 mules and 1,000 wagons and captured the whole, with 1,500 prisoners.

While he was thus engaged Rosecrans' cavalry, 8,000 strong, swept down upon the Georgians. The latter charged and repulsed the northerners, capturing the forts at McMinnville, Tenn., with 600 prisoners and great stores; capturing the forts and destroying the bridges near Murfreesboro, and then, as full of fight as at the beginning of the engagement, they turned and put to rout General Hooker and the Eleventh and Twelfth corps that came riding down at the moment to reinforce the Yankees.—Chicago Journal.

Bedlam.

The word "bedlam" is a corruption of the word "Bethlehem" and originated as a synonym for chaos at the time when the house of Bethlehem, occupied by a sisterhood of London, became an insane asylum. The treatment of the insane in the early part of the sixteenth century was not well understood, and according to the theories then prevalent, it was necessary to frighten the patient out of his lunacy. All sorts of awful expedients were resorted to, among them "surprise floors," which slipped from under the feet; "surprise baths" and floggings at the periods of most severe illness; hence the name "bedlam," the result of incorrect spelling, possibly, came easily to stand for mad things.

SURE SIGN OF DEATH.

ONE SIMPLE TEST THAT, IT IS ALLEGED, NEVER FAILS.

A Physician Who Says He Has Tried It in More Than a Thousand Cases Explains His Method of Preventing Premature Burial.

The question of an absolutely sure sign of death has troubled mankind from ancient times. It has been most variously answered, but never to entire satisfaction. The difficulties we meet with are: First, that not all organs of the body die in one moment, and second, that the action of some of the vital organs may be so diminished that by ordinary means it appears almost impossible to decide whether the life in them is in fact extinct or not.

The actual causes of physiological death are three: First, cessation of brain function; second, cessation of respiration or failure of the lungs; third, failure of the heart.

The first, involving immediate death of the central or animal nervous system only, is not at once followed by the inactivity of the peripheral nervous system and its special so-called vegetative centers, as long ago was demonstrated by Brown-Sequard, Schiff and others. So the lungs may continue to contract and expand, the heart may continue to beat, even if with greatly diminished power. We know further that the life of the skin is not extinct. Hair and nails continue to grow, the stomach continues to digest, the liver to secrete bile, etc. Respecting the second cause of death, we well know that respiration may cease for quite awhile if the brain is not affected and the circulation not interrupted. And of the third cause, by heart failure, the same may be said. So we see that we may speak of true, absolute physiological death only after the cessation of function of the three organs together or at least of two of them, the lungs and the heart, without the life action of which the brain certainly cannot operate.

Now, as regards respiration, we have very simple means to demonstrate its cessation. So remains, in fact, as the only one to show its true death the heart. This to prove indeed with absolute certainty is quite a difficult problem. Upon the absence therefore of any and all traces of circulation in the body have been concentrated most experiments. And as regards the same we have to take into consideration that by disease the heart beats might be diminished to but so few faint pulsations per minute, might become so imperceptible, that without the aid of special instruments and long continued observations nothing of their existence may be detected.

In the following I shall give the simple means by which any person easily enough may convince himself of the absence or presence even of the slightest traces of circulation:

If we ligate tight a member of the body—best, for example, a finger between the first and second joint—in the living we will soon notice, beginning almost at once, a reddish coloration of the portion above the ligature. It becomes darker and darker red and finally assumes a dark bluish red color. The entire upper portion will be thus affected, and only directly around the ligature there will be a small, colorless, white ring. Now, as sure as this discoloration will be observed in the living being, as sure will all traces of it be absent in the dead. The bluish discoloration occasionally observed of and around the finger nails in some corpses is of no influence upon, nor does it interfere in the slightest with, the phenomenon and its correct interpretation.

The phenomenon of course is easily enough explained in the living by the stagnation of the blood in the veins and the capillaries when a new supply through the arteries and the backflow through the veins is cut off by the ligature. The white ring around the latter is produced by the partial arterial, partial venous anemia.

In place of a finger, if, as it at times may happen, the skin seems too thick and horny to show the phenomenon plainly, though this will but seldom occur, one may use the toes, the earlaps, even the tip of the nose, if desired. The member must be only thin enough in order to make the ligature as tight and perfect as possible.

I have used this means in about 1,030 to 1,040 cases previous to post mortem examinations.

In one case only I observed the mentioned discoloration, though it was impossible to notice any heart action by any means. I at once resorted to resuscitation, and, sure enough, the blood flowed, and after a short time faint heart beats up to seven per minute could be distinguished. Every thing was done to start respiration. Yet it was too late, and the heart beats within half an hour gradually diminished. The corpse had been lying for dead for over two hours.—Dr. Theodore Deecke in Utica Press.

A Lesson.

At a lesson in a medical college the other day one of the students, who was by no means a dullard, was asked by the professor, "How much is a dose of —?" (giving the technical name of a strong poison).

"A teaspoonful," was the reply. The professor made no comment, but the student, a quarter of an hour later, realized that he had made a mistake, and straightway said:

"Professor, I want to change my answer to that question."

"It's too late, sir," responded the professor curtly, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead 14 minutes."—London Telegraph.

Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Do you see that man with the dark mustache?" said Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"I never saw him before. He is married. He ought to live in a flat, but doesn't. His wife is afraid of the hired girl, and he is left handed."

"Mr. Holmes, you are an everlasting marvel. How can you tell that about a man you don't know and whom you never saw before?"

"Look at the second knuckle on his left hand. You see, it is badly skinned. Also there is a black mark on his left cuff. Now let us see what we must make of this. When a left handed man pokes up the furnace fire, how does he do it? By putting his left hand forward, of course. Thus it happened that it was his left hand which scraped against the furnace door. The blackened cuff shows that it was a furnace door. Having this foundation to work upon, the rest is easy. If he lived in a flat, he would have no furnace to look after, and if his wife were not afraid of the hired girl they would make the latter do the poking up. It is all very simple if one's perceptive faculties are properly trained. He can't really afford to live in a house, because if he could he would have a man to look after the furnace. Therefore he ought to live in a flat."

"But hold on. How do you know the man is married? He can't be over 30 at the most. Why may it not be possible that he lives at home with his widowed mother?"

"My dear sir," said Sherlock Holmes, Jr. "I am surprised at your lack of perspicacity. If he lived at home with his widowed mother, he would permit her to tend to the furnace herself."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Round Robin Remedy.

When a doctor of 30 years' practice encounters a new experience, it must be worth relating. This is from a physician on Lafayette avenue who has fought disease for the period named.

"I saw him get gingerly out of a wagon in front of the office. He then left the team with his daughter, ignored the bell and pounded lustily on the door. I answered in person because I thought he and my office girl might get into an argument, for he looked just like a man who would insist upon seeing the 'doc' at once.

"'Doc,' he began without other preliminary, 'I've been a-takin' truck fur six months, and blamed if I hain't worse'n I was at the beginnin'."

"'What's the matter with you?'"

"'Stomach's all out o' whack. Regular riot down there all the time and me a-doin' in the remedy after each meal and at early bedtime."

"'What are you taking?'"

"'Here it is, doc, and I got a lot left yet. My first wife uster buy it in the bulk 'cause it came cheaper."

"'But this is for the lungs."

"'S'pose I don't know that? Course it's fur the lungs. That's what was the matter with her. I don't care if it was fur the liver. It's got ter go to the stomach first, hain't it? And the stomach and the lungs hain't so durned far apart but what helps one helps the other.'"—Detroit Free Press.

A Singular Affliction.

One of the leading alienists of Chicago, with a practice of 30 years behind him, had an experience not long ago that was entirely new to him.

It was near his hour for starting to his lecture class in a West Side school. Three women were in the waiting room. Two of them were willing to make an appointment for the next day. The third one, a stranger, would hear to no delay, and the doctor's assistant showed her in.

"I had my hat in my hand," said the doctor, "and she had been told that I was in a hurry. She came across the room in a most leisurely fashion, however, taking three times as much time as the ordinary person would. She was chewing an unusual wad of gum—a whole package, I should say—and she was chewing it with desperate vigor."

"She sat down slowly, and I asked her a question. She looked straight at me and went on chewing. I spoke again and again, but she sat looking at me and chewing in as much silence as was possible under the circumstances. Finally I said to her:

"Madam, will you kindly stop chewing long enough to answer my questions?"

"Then she burst out, sobbing."

"That's just what I'm here for—I can't stop—I've got to chew—and I've been chewing just this way for more than two years."—Chicago Tribune.

Wheeler's Bravery.

Wheeler's charge at the battle of Shiloh was said by General Grant to be one of the most splendid exhibitions of human bravery he had ever witnessed, and a feat which roused admiration among both armies was when the intrepid little general accomplished the destruction of Rosecrans' provision train after the battle of Chickamauga.

On Dec. 30, 1863, General Wheeler attempted and successfully carried out one of the most daring, perilous and important duties ever assigned a cavalry commander. He crossed the Tennessee river in the face of a division of cavalry under General George Crook, drove back and worsted the troops that guarded the Federal trains of 600 mules and 1,000 wagons and captured the whole, with 1,500 prisoners.

While he was thus engaged Rosecrans' cavalry, 8,000 strong, swept down upon the Georgians. The latter charged and repulsed the northerners, capturing the forts at McMinnville, Tenn., with 600 prisoners and great stores; capturing the forts and destroying the bridges near Murfreesboro, and then, as full of fight as at the beginning of the engagement, they turned and put to rout General Hooker and the Eleventh and Twelfth corps that came riding down at the moment to reinforce the Yankees.—Chicago Journal.

Bedlam.

The word "bedlam" is a corruption of the word "Bethlehem" and originated as a synonym for chaos at the time when the house of Bethlehem, occupied by a sisterhood of London, became an insane asylum. The treatment of the insane in the early part of the sixteenth century was not well understood, and, according to the theories then prevalent, it was necessary to frighten the patient out of his lunacy. All sorts of awful expedients were resorted to, among them "surprise floors," which slipped from under the feet; "surprise laths" and floggings at the periods of most severe illness; hence the name "bedlam," the result of incorrect spelling, possibly, came easily to stand for mad things.

—Ed Shaffer, formerly an employee of the ice company, who has been traveling with the Ringling Bros.' circus, arrived in the city Monday afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Albright, of Sebring, were in the city yesterday attending the annual reunion of the Albright family at the home of J. W. Albright.

—Miss Mary Goodwin and Miss Nina Lee left this morning for Mansfield, where they will attend a reception given by Miss Upson, of that place, tonight.

WANTED—Protestant woman, about 35 years old, for general housework in country home. Family comprised of four adults. This is a splendid home for the right party and will be permanent. Wages, $3 per week. Address, Frank L. Brennenman, Arroyo P. O. Hancock county, West Virginia.

SURE SIGN OF DEATH.

ONE SIMPLE TEST THAT, IT IS ALLEGED, NEVER FAILS.

A Physician Who Says He Has Tried It in More Than a Thousand Cases Explains His Method of Preventing Premature Burial.

The question of an absolutely sure sign of death has troubled mankind from ancient times. It has been most variously answered, but never to entire satisfaction. The difficulties we meet with are: First, that not all organs of the body die in one moment, and second, that the action of some of the vital organs may be so diminished that by ordinary means it appears almost impossible to decide whether the life in them is in fact extinct or not.

The actual causes of physiological death are three: First, cessation of brain function; second, cessation of respiration or failure of the lungs; third, failure of the heart.

The first, involving immediate death of the central or animal nervous system only, is not at once followed by the inactivity of the peripheral nervous system and its special so called vegetative centers, as long ago was demonstrated by Brown-Sequard, Schiff and others. So the lungs may continue to contract and expand, the heart may continue to beat, even if with greatly diminished power. We know further that the life of the skin is not extinct. Hair and nails continue to grow, the stomach continues to digest, the liver to secrete bile, etc. Respecting the second cause of death, we well know that respiration may cease for quite awhile if the brain is not affected and the circulation not interrupted. And of the third cause, by heart failure, the same may be said. So we see that we may speak of true, absolute physiological death only after the cessation of function of the three organs together or at least of two of them, the lungs and the heart, without the life action of which the brain certainly cannot operate.

Now, as regards respiration, we have very simple means to demonstrate its cessation. So remains, in fact, as the only one to show its true death the heart. This to prove indeed with absolute certainty is quite a difficult problem. Upon the absence therefore of any and all traces of circulation in the body have been concentrated most experiments. And as regards the same we have to take into consideration that by disease the heart beats might be diminished to but so few faint pulsations per minute, might become so imperceptible, that without the aid of special instruments and long continued observations nothing of their existence may be detected.

In the following I shall give the simple means by which any person easily enough may convince himself of the absence or presence even of the slightest traces of circulation:

If we ligate tight a member of the body—best, for example, a finger between the first and second joint—in the living we will soon notice, beginning almost at once, a reddish coloration of the portion above the ligature. It becomes darker and darker red and finally assumes a dark bluish red color. The entire upper portion will be thus affected, and only directly around the ligature there will be a small, colorless, white ring. Now, as sure as this discoloration will be observed in the living being, as sure will all traces of it be absent in the dead. The bluish discoloration occasionally observed of and around the finger nails in some corpses is of no influence upon, nor does it interfere in the slightest with, the phenomenon and its correct interpretation.

The phenomenon of course is easily enough explained in the living by the stagnation of the blood in the veins and the capillaries when a new supply through the arteries and the backflow through the veins is cut off by the ligature. The white ring around the latter is produced by the partial arterial, partial venous anemia.

In place of a finger, if, as it at times may happen, the skin seems too thick and horny to show the phenomenon plainly, though this will but seldom occur, one may use the toes, the earlaps, even the tip of the nose, if desired. The member must be only thin enough in order to make the ligature as tight and perfect as possible.

I have used this means in about 1,030 to 1,040 cases previous to post mortem examination.

The only I observed the mentioned coloration, though it was impossible to notice any heart action by any means. I at once resorted to resection, and, sure enough, the blood flowed, and after a short time faint heart beats up to seven per minute could be distinguished. Every thing was done to start respiration. Yet it was too late, and the heart beats within half an hour gradually diminished. The corpse had been lying for dead for over two hours.—Dr. Theodore Deecke in Utica Press.

A Lesson.

At a lesson in a medical college the other day one of the students, who was by no means a dullard, was asked by the professor, "How much is a dose of —?" (giving the technical name of a strong poison).

"A teaspoonful," was the reply. The professor made no comment, but the student, a quarter of an hour later, realized that he had made a mistake, and straightway said:

"Professor, I want to change my answer to that question."

"It's too late, sir," responded the professor curtly, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead 14 minutes."—London Telegraph.

Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Do you see that man with the dark mustache?" said Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"I never saw him before. He is married. He ought to live in a flat, but doesn't. His wife is afraid of the hired girl, and he is left handed." "Mr. Holmes, you are an everlasting marvel. How can you tell that about a man you don't know and whom you never saw before?"

"Look at the second knuckle on his left hand. You see, it is badly skinned. Also there is a black mark on his left cuff. Now let us see what we must make of this. When a left handed man pokes up the furnace fire, how does he do it? By putting his left hand forward, of course. Thus it happened that it was his left hand which scraped against the furnace door. The blackened cuff shows that it was a furnace door. Having this foundation to work upon, the rest is easy. If he lived in a flat, he would have no furnace to look after, and if his wife were not afraid of the hired girl they would make the latter do the poking up. It is all very simple if one's perceptive faculties are properly trained. He can't really afford to live in a house, because if he could he would have a man to look after the furnace. Therefore he ought to live in a flat."

"But hold on. How do you know the man is married? He can't be over 30 at the most. Why may it not be possible that he lives at home with his widowed mother?"

"My dear sir," said Sherlock Holmes, Jr., "I am surprised at your lack of perspicacity. If he lived at home with his widowed mother, he would permit her to tend to the furnace herself."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Round Robin Remedy.

When a doctor of 30 years' practice encounters a new experience, it must be worth relating. This is from a physician on Lafayette avenue who has fought disease for the period named.

"I saw him get gingerly out of a wagon in front of the office. He then left the team with his daughter, ignored the bell and pounded lustily on the door. I answered in person because I thought he and my office girl might get into an argument, for he looked just like a man who would insist upon seeing the 'doc' at once.

"Doc," he began without other preliminary, "I've been a-takin' truck fur six months, and blamed if I hain't worse'n I was at the beginnin'."

"What's the matter with you?"

"Stomach's all out o' whack. Regular riot down there all the time and me a-doin' in the remedy after each meal and at early bedtime."

"What are you taking?"

"Here it is, doc, and I got a lot left yet. My first wife uster buy it in the bulk 'cause it came cheaper."

"But this is for the lungs."

"S'pose I don't know that? Course it's fur the lungs. That's what was the matter with her. I don't care if it was fur the liver. It's got ter go to the stomach first, hain't it? And the stomach and the lungs hain't so durned far apart but what helps one helps the other and what gits to one gits to the other."—Detroit Free Press.

And as regards the same we have to take into consideration that by disease the heart beats might be diminished to but so few faint pulsations per minute, might become so imperceptible, that without the aid of special instruments and long continued observations nothing of their existence may be detected.

In the following I shall give the simple means by which any person easily enough may convince himself of the absence or presence even of the slightest traces of circulation:

If we ligate tight a member of the body—best, for example, a finger between the first and second joint—in the living we will soon notice, beginning almost at once, a reddish coloration of the portion above the ligature. It becomes darker and darker red and finally assumes a dark bluish red color. The entire upper portion will be thus affected, and only directly around the ligature there will be a small, colorless, white ring. Now, as sure as this discoloration will be observed in the living being, as sure will all traces of it be absent in the dead. The bluish discoloration occasionally observed of and around the finger nails in some corpses is of no influence upon, nor does it interfere in the slightest with, the phenomenon and its correct interpretation.

The phenomenon of course is easily enough explained in the living by the stagnation of the blood in the veins and the capillaries when a new supply through the arteries and the backflow through the veins is cut off by the ligature. The white ring around the latter is produced by the partial arterial, partial venous anæmia.

In place of a finger, if, as it at times may happen, the skin seems too thick and horny to show the phenomenon plainly, though this will but seldom occur, one may use the toes, the earlaps, even the tip of the nose, if desired. The member must be only thin enough in order to make the ligature as tight and perfect as possible.

I have used this means in about 1,030 to 1,040 cases previous to post mortem examinations.

It is only I observed the mentioned coloration, though it was impossible to notice any heart action by any means. I at once resorted to resection, and, sure enough, the blood flowed, and after a short time faint heart beats up to seven per minute could be distinguished. Every thing was done to start respiration. Yet it was too late, and the heart beats within half an hour gradually diminished. The corpse had been lying for dead for over two hours.—Dr. Theodore Deecke in Utica Press.

A Lesson.

At a lesson in a medical college the other day one of the students, who was by no means a dillard, was asked by the professor, "How much is a dose of —?" (giving the technical name of a strong poison).

"A teaspoonful," was the reply. The professor made no comment, but the student, a quarter of an hour later, realized that he had made a mistake, and straightway said:

"Professor, I want to change my answer to that question."

"It's too late, sir," responded the professor curtly, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead 14 minutes."—London Telegraph.

Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Do you see that man with the dark mustache?" said Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Yes. Do you know him?" "I never saw him before. He is married. He ought to live in a flat, but doesn't. His wife is afraid of the hired girl, and he is left handed."

"Mr. Holmes, you are an everlasting marvel. How can you tell that about a man you don't know and whom you never saw before?"

"Look at the second knuckle on his left hand. You see, it is badly skinned. Also there is a black mark on his left cuff. Now let us see what we must make of this. When a left handed man pokes up the furnace fire, how does he do it? By putting his left hand forward, of course. Thus it happened that it was his left hand which scraped against the furnace door. The blackened cuff shows that it was a furnace door. Having this foundation to work upon, the rest is easy. If he lived in a flat, he would have no furnace to look after, and if his wife were not afraid of the hired girl they would make the latter do the poking up. It is all very simple if one's perceptive faculties are properly trained. He can't really afford to live in a house, because if he could he would have a man to look after the furnace. Therefore he ought to live in a flat."

"But hold on. How do you know the man is married? He can't be over 30 at the most. Why may it not be possible that he lives at home with his widowed mother?"

"My dear sir," said Sherlock Holmes, Jr., "I am surprised at your lack of perspicacity. If he lived at home with his widowed mother, he would permit her to tend to the furnace herself."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Round Robin Remedy.

When a doctor of 30 years' practice encounters a new experience, it must be worth relating. This is from a physician on Lafayette avenue who has fought disease for the period named.

"I saw him get gingerly out of a wagon in front of the office. He then left the team with his daughter, ignored the bell and pounded lustily on the door. I answered in person because I thought he and my office girl might get into an argument, for he looked just like a man who would insist upon seeing the 'doc' at once.

"Doc," he began without other preliminary, 'I've been a-takin' truck fur six months, and blamed if I hain't worse'n I was at the beginnin'."

"What's the matter with you?"

"Stomach's all out o' whack. Regular riot down there all the time and me a-dosin in the remedy after each meal and at early bedtime."

"What are you taking?"

"Here it is, doc, and I got a lot left yet. My first wife uster buy it in the bulk 'cause it came cheaper."

"But this is for the lungs."

"S'pose I don't know that? Course it's fur the lungs. That's what was the matter with her. I don't care if it was fur the liver. It's got ter go to the stomach first, hain't it? And the stomach and the lungs hain't so durned far apart but what helps one helps the other and what gits to one gits to the other."—Detroit Free Press.

TRAGIC DEATH OF JOHN HAMILTON

Was Fixing an Electric Light on Mulberry Street, East End, and Took

HOLD OF A LIVE WIRE

He Was Thrown Several Feet and Was Dead When He Was Picked Up.

BRIEF HISTORY OF HIS LIFE

Fireman John Hamilton was instantly killed on Monday evening by an electrical shock from a live wire on Mulberry street, East End.

The lamp is located at the Mulberry street railroad crossing and is paid for by the railroad company. For that reason very little attention has been paid to the service from this particular light by the light company, and as a result it has been out most of the time for weeks.

Fireman Hamilton noticed the light go out, and, hastening to the rope which secured it in place, he shook the thing in an endeavor to start it. The only effect this had was to cause the wires to become tangled and caught fire to a manila rope above the lamp. Hamilton of course untied the rope below and lowered the light to the street, where he attempted to extinguish the flame by passing his hand back and forth in front of it. Some one called to him from the sidewalk to be careful not to touch the wire, and in turning about to reply his open hand came in contact with the wire and he was thrown backward to the curb, where he fell.

Bystanders carried the injured man into Allison's restaurant, where an examination showed there were no signs of life. Several physicians were summoned and everything possible done to revive him, but from the moment he was picked up no signs of life were noticed.

John Hamilton was born in Hamiltontown, opposite Wellsville, 51 years ago, and with the exception of a few years the greater portion of his life was spent in this city, where he was among the best known and most prominent citizens.

He was appointed to the position which he held at the time of his death on May 8, 1900, and has been an able assistant to Captain Terrence at the East End station.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from his late home on Pennsylvania avenue, and interment will be made in the cemetery at Hamiltontown.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Royal Arcanum, of which the deceased was a member, and it is probable a detail from the local fire department will be in attendance.

SENTENCED FOR FRAUD.

MEIERS AND JONES CONVICTED OF SWINDLING.

Forgers of Railroad Passes Get Indeterminate Terms in the Penitentiary.

Two swindlers of railroad companies by means of forged passes, and one swindler of manufacturers by the use of the mails, were sentenced to the penitentiary from Chicago yesterday.

Gilbert E. Meiers and John H. Jones, the wholesale forgers of railway passes, who were arrested when about to leave Chicago a few weeks ago, pleaded guilty of forgery before Judge Tuley, and a few minutes later were sentenced to Joliet for an indeterminate term. Although the men were glad to plead guilty without troubling the prosecution to present its evidence, they were not willing to tell the extent to which they had defrauded the railroads.

A few facts about their operations were drawn from the men, but no connected story was told by them. The amounts of which the railroads have been defrauded by them run into the thousands of dollars, and railroads throughout the country have been victimized, but no definite idea of the extent of the operations can be secured. In addition to the forging and selling of employees' passes, for which the men were arrested, they had another method of obtaining transportation. They would present to the passenger agent of a railroad a forged letter from the head of another road, asking for trip passes for two employees of the foreign road. When this letter was honored by the issuance of the requested passes, the pasteboards would be promptly sold to a scalper. Meiers told of getting six return passes to important western points in this manner. They were sold to Bill Nye, a Chicago scalper, for $210, and were recovered from him, after the arrest of Meiers and Jones by the railroads interested.

Meiers and Jones worked in one city after another through the country, and it was due to the vigilance of Central Passenger association officials, who were on the lookout for them, that they were caught when they appeared here. They ordered bogus autograph stamps from A. W. Martin & Co., makers of rubber stamps, who reported the order to the passenger association. The forgers depended on the possession of false stamps and of paper and passes printed by themselves for their success.

Five Indictments.

There were five indictments against the men, but when they pleaded guilty to the charge of forging a pass over the Norfolk & Western the other indictments were dropped.

Since the arrest of the pair it has been learned that Meiers has a criminal record. His real name is P. N. Van Sickle, his home is in New Lexington, O., and he was formerly a Wagner car conductor. He was convicted a year ago in Reading, Pa., of obtaining employment by means of forged letters, and served a sentence of three months in the Berks county jail. He was also convicted last May in New York city of forging the name of L. E. Rossiter, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, for which he served a short term in the Kings county jail. He was at the same time indicted for another forgery in New York, but escaped through a legal technicality.

The men were prosecuted by T. E. Brodbelt, special agent of the Central Passenger association; Joseph J. Doran, Philadelphia, general solicitor of the Norfolk & Western, and John H. Coulter, of Chicago, were the attorneys for the railroads, and Assistant State's Attorney Olsen appeared for the state.

The witnesses heard were L. E. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va., general manager of the Norfolk & Western; J. C. Moorhead, of Cleveland, O., general manager of the Erie, and A. L. Bliss, of Cleveland, O., chief clerk of the Nickel Plate.—From the Chicago Inter-Ocean, November 28th, 1900.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN.

The Christmas Exercises Held There on Monday Evening Were Very Enjoyable.

The Christmas exercises at the Second Presbyterian church on Monday evening passed off very pleasantly. The superintendent of the Sunday school, E. D. Moore, presided and made a few introductory remarks. Rev. James N. Swan led in prayer. Very interesting and appropriate impromptu addresses were made by Freeman W. McCain and James S. Noah. Little Pauline Lemon very cleverly gave a recitation. Rev. Charles W. Swan gave a very interesting address, in which he compared the blessings enjoyed by the children of America with the state of affairs in China, where one day is the same as another, no Christmas, no Sunday nor Sunday school, except as the people are taught the Christian religion, through the efforts of the missionaries, in whom he said he knew the children and others of this school are interested. Mr. Swan had with him a Chinese idol which he exhibited. It was not a pretty thing, but, he said, the Chinese idols are nearly always hideous, their idea being that if the god be ugly it will be better able to frighten away evil spirits. The pastor of the church followed Mr. Swan with an exceedingly interesting and helpful address, giving the congregation a hearty Christmas greeting, in which he feelingly alluded to the many tokens of love and kindness shown to him and his family by the congregation. It is very refreshing to note the bond of sympathy and co-operation between the pastor and people of the church. Mr. Crowe took charge of the distribution of books, some 15 of which were given out to as many members of the Sunday school who were present every Sunday during the year. Candles and nuts were distributed to every person present and the teachers took charge of the boxes for those who were not in attendance. After spending an hour very enjoyable the congregation dispersed after singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction.

1,000,000 WOMEN RELIEVED

Reports received show that Wine of Cardui has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 suffering women in the last few years. Because of Wine of Cardui, thousands of sufferers, seemingly on the way to premature graves, are now healthy women taking an active interest in the duties of life. Mrs. Mitchell was declining in health when Wine of Cardui "performed a miraculous cure" in her case. She suffered terribly with the agonies of falling of the womb, leucorrhoea and profuse menstruation. The weekly appearance of the menses for two months sapped her vitality until she was little better than a physical wreck. Her nervous system gave way under the terrible pain and aggravation. Then came the trial of Wine of Cardui and the cure. Mrs. Mitchell's experience ought to commend Wine of Cardui to suffering women in words of burning eloquence. The Wine is within the reach of all. Woman who try it are relieved. You can get as much benefit as Mrs. Mitchell received. Ask your druggist for Wine of Cardui. Send to the laboratory for the medicine if he tenders you a substitute.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN IN CHILDREN'S HOME.

Very Pleasant Time Had by All the Children, Who Enjoyed the Program.

Alliance Review.

An entrancing Christmas entertainment occurred at Fairmount Children's Home this afternoon in which the charming cantata, "Johnny Doubter," was rendered.

A large audience of visitors from all points attended and all most heartily enjoyed the happy occasion.

The large recitation hall was exquisitely decorated for the occasion, and when the bright faced children appeared, the picture was one of rare attractiveness. The cantata represented a little boy named Johnny, who did not believe in Santa Claus. Juveniles representing all the nations of the globe then appeared and each testified in verse to the fact that Santa Claus actually exists. By and by Johnny Doubter became convinced and all was happiness.

Two splendid drills were given, the performers in one being the older girls, and the other being given by boys. The Misses Fleming and Barker played a fine piano duet. The two little colored pupils, Lizzie Wilson, aged 5, and Maggie Wilson, aged 4, sang pleasing selections.

Superintendent Southworth received countless congratulations upon the excellence of his entertainment.

EXPECT BIG BUSINESS.

Sanitary Ware Will be in Splendid Demand After the Holiday Season.

Trenton True American.

Christmas week will be devoted to stock taking in the potteries. They will shut down and all the machinery will receive a thorough overhauling. In some of the plants work will only be suspended on Christmas day.

All the pottery owners are laying plans of a great volume of trade during the coming year. About January 1 the salesmen of both the sanitary and general ware potteries will start out, soliciting orders for the spring trade.

The boom in real estate, which extends to all parts of the country, indicates a big demand for sanitary ware during the coming season.

AROD ZAN-A-LUMA GOT INTO TROUBLE

The Man With the Long Hair Who Told Fortunes In This City

WAS ARRESTED IN PITTSBURG

Authorities There Didn't Go Much On His Fortune Telling and He

PROMISED TO LEAVE AT ONCE

The following article in regard to "Zan-a-Luma" will be appreciated by people in this city. "Zan-a-Luma" spent several weeks here a short time ago and did a good business. At one time he was engaged in the photograph business in this city.

The article is taken from the Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette, and is as follows:

Walter Dietrich, Arod Zan-a-Luma, who professed to be a Buddhist seer, philosopher and teacher of occult science, was arrested here by Detectives Richard Kelly and Charles McGovern, charged with fortune telling. The arrest was made upon the instructions of Superintendent Roger O'Mara.

"Dietrich was locked up in central police station, and will be given a hearing before Magistrate McKenna. An effort will be made to secure the prisoner's discharge upon his promise to give up fortune telling in this locality and shake the dust of the city from his feet.

"Dietrich is said to live in New Brighton. He was formerly a photographer in Beaver Falls and has traveled in that capacity over the country. Recently he allowed his hair to grow long and entered the business of fortune telling, claiming to be an adept in mental telepathy and palmistry. He came to the city a few weeks ago and secured boarding accommodations for himself and wife at No. 18 Ninth street. He was visited December 11 by Detective Kelly, and gave the detective a reading in palmistry, announcing that Kelly was 'under a lucky star, and was certain to attain riches within a few years.' Dietrich said he charged no specific sum for his services, but would accept anything given him. Kelly gave up 50 cents.

"Dietrich's wife called at the police station after he had been arrested with a male friend and asked to see

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1900.

DON'T CRINGE.

Be a man. Don't grovel or cringe to any other human creature, no matter what may be the position or wealth of that piece of human clay. An honest Christian man, loving God and humanity, bows down to and worships nothing short of the Infinite. Be a man, in the fullest sense of the term.

WHITE CHRISTMAS.

The general impression was that a "green" Christmas would hold sway in this year of 1900. Joy and jubilation rang forth on Christmas morn, when it was discovered that the "beautiful" had been sent down to us by the Master during the passing night. God speed peace and prosperity as the follower of our "white" Christmas.

ELECTRICITY.

The law should compel great care in the control of this terribly dangerous element. Electricity has been proven a wonderful power when properly harnessed and groomed. But unskillful hands should not be permitted to care for it or attend to it in any manner. Fatal accidents are an everyday occurrence through the instrumentality of the careless handling of this awful power. Action should be taken by our city council looking to safeguards along this line.

SALVATION ARMY.

The officers and rank and file of the Salvation Army deserve great credit for the part they have taken in feeding the poor and the needy on Christmas day. It is true that they received aid and assistance in their good work from a generous public and from practical lovers of sweet charity; but the Army was the prime mover in the work of practical Christianity and good Samaritanism, and the world at large will echo the plaudits of "well done, good and faithful servants."

CHIEF OF POLICE.

Chief of Police Devery is now held responsible for much of the crime and vice which has held and is still holding sway in New York city. Men who hold such positions of power, and who prove recreant to the trust reposed in them by the citizens at large, should be made to face hot punishment at the hands of an outraged law when detected in their nefarious practices. The man or men who occupy positions of trust as guardians of the peace, and who connive at crime, drunkenness and debauchery, and who shield rather than expose criminals and lawbreakers, are the most despicable and contemptible rascals unhung. They are perjurers and liars, beneath the notice of any honest man or woman; playthings for blood suckers and ward heelers and the saloon and liquor league, in company with street walkers and keepers of bawdy houses. The nemesis known as Justice is on their trail, all over the land, and exposure and disgrace are sure to follow. Turn on the light.

DEATH TO RUM.

This be the watchword and the battle slogan of all men and women in this great nation who love God and humanity and who long, with supreme longing, for the advance of Christian civilization and the downfall of sin, iniquity, crime and disorder. The News Review, Republican from center to circumference, flings defiance, in the name of God, in the face of the liquor league of the land and of the infamous license system, and advocates the dissolution of the partnership now existing between the government and the liquor league. Speed the day, oh God, when the mandate shall go forth from the national halls of legislation forbidding the manufacture and sale of any and all intoxicating drinks. Death to Rum.

HONEST EMPLOYEES.

The council which passed the ordinance that city employees should pay their honest debts is worthy of warm commendation in this special feature. The ordinance provides that, in case an employe owes money, and will not pay the same, the city clerk shall retain one-fourth of his wages each month, and apply the same to the liquidation of said indebtedness. If an employe is an honest man, he will make no demur. If a rascal and a scoundrel and a dead beat, he will enter hot protest against such a measure, and make use of every known trickery and chicanery and legal subterfuge in order to defeat the ends of justice. One councilman now on duty asserts that there is a possibility that the ordinance will not stand the test of legality, and that he would like to see the matter brought to an issue, as he does not believe in having our solons bothered with every little bill which an employe may owe and which he refuses to pay. We would simply suggest to the said councilman that there is a very easy way to avoid all this trouble and annoyance, namely: Employ none but honest men, men who will pay their debts voluntarily, and not under the lash of compulsion. In the meantime, we can assure the said councilman that the vexed question as to the ordinance will be settled in the very near future.

COMMENDATORY.

A writer over the signature of "Rutledge" spoke out in meetin' in our issue of last Monday respecting the illegal blockading of streets and sidewalks in East Liverpool, especially condemning the blockade on Walnut street, between Forest and Kossuth streets. Mr. Monroe Patterson, president of the Patterson Foundry and Machine company, where the blockade in question is located, commends "Rutledge" for his article, and states that the blockade will be removed at once, informing us that the dirt placed on the street was the result of internal improvement, and that it would have been removed at once, had not the teamster in charge been so unfortunate as to have one of his teams incapacitated for active work for the time being. He further states that part of the blockade has been caused by the failure of certain parties to remove finished products. Mr. Patterson deserves commendation for his pleasant manner of complying with the law.

SOUTH SIDE.

STILL AT IT.

The Southside Horse Case Has Not
Been Settled And Fulton Wont
Compromise.

It appears the troubles occasioned
by the litigation between George Ar-
ner and George Fulton will not down.
Fulton is determined to have his team
and will accept no compromise, while Arner is just as determined that he will hold enough of his opponent's
property to cover the debt of $21 80.

Mr. Arner decided on Saturday that one horse would be enough to cover
the amount, and decided to return one
of them, together with the harness,
but Fulton refused to accept the compromise, asserting that he would have
the whole outfit ere long.

Mr. Arner now says he will make no
further effort to settle the matter, and if there is any more propositions to be made they must come from the other.

PRINCES ARRESTED.

China Takes Tuan and Chiang Into Custody.

AWFUL MURDERS OF MISSIONARIES

Another Atrocious Affair Reported. Prince Ching Receives Note From the Powers—Dispatched to the Court, With Promise of Quick Action on It.

London, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Peking to a news agency here, dated Dec. 24, says missionaries state that Boxers, 35 miles east of Peking, killed 12 Catholics and burned eight in the temples.

Peking, Dec. 26.—The preliminary joint note was delivered Monday to the Chinese. Li Hung Chang found that he was unable to attend the meeting of the ministers, and his credentials and those of Prince Ching were presented by the latter to the foreign envoys.

Prince Ching, replying to the Spanish minister, Senor B. J. De Cologan, who presented the note, said he would immediately communicate its contents to the emperor, and assured the ministers that a speedy reply was the desire of the court, as it felt that all China wants peace and prosperity.

London, Dec. 26.—According to a news agency dispatch from Peking, dated Dec. 24, the foreign ministers there are unanimously of the opinion that China will accept the conditions imposed by the joint note of the powers within a month. The note was started on its way to the dowager empress and the emperor immediately after its presentation, the dispatch says, but wire communication is slow and probably will not reach them until Dec. 27.

London, Dec. 26.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Dec. 24, says:

"The government has arrested Prince Tuan and Prince Ching on the borders of the Shan Si and Shen Si provinces. Yu Hsien has been ordered to return to Sian for forthwith to be executed, it is supposed.

"It is inferred from these reports that the imperial authorities are preparing to concede the demands of the joint note for the punishment of the instigators of the trouble in China."

Paris, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to the Havas agency, made public Dec. 25, from Peking said:

The ministers assembled at the residence of Senor B. J. De Cologan (the Spanish minister and the doyen of the diplomatic corps) and received Prince Ching, to whom the Spanish minister handed the joint note of the powers. Li Hung Chang, who is still ill, asked to be excused. Prince Ching said:

"I have the honor to accept the note concerning the re-establishment of good relations and will transmit it immediately to the emperor and communicate to you his reply as soon as received."

W. IRVING SHAW SUICIDED.

All Health Supposed Cause—Recently Appointed Consul General to Singapore. Suicided in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—W. Irving Shaw, who had been filling the position of United States consul at Barranquilla, Colombia, and who was recently appointed consul general to Singapore, committed suicide in a hotel here. His health is supposed to have effected his mind.

After receiving the appointment he decided that it would be necessary to return to Barranquilla to settle his affairs. He left the home of his sister in Germantown, near here, where he had been staying, over two weeks ago and sailed from New York on the steamer Altal.

That was the last heard of him until he was found dead. Mr. Shaw was about 38 years old. He was born in Clearfield county, Pa., where he practiced law for several years. He was a warm personal friend of former Governor Hastings and many other prominent state officials.

His widow and two little sons are at State College, where they were to remain until the husband and father should return from Barranquilla.

PROBABLY ABDUCTION CLUES

Pony Found Believed to Have Belonged to Have Belonged to One of Men. A Lantern Identified.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to a local paper from Omaha contained the following, in part: Another important development in the Cudahy kidnaping case has been reported to the police in the discovery in a barn near Pacific Junction la., 23 miles south and just across the river, of a pony answering the description of the one ridden by one of the abductors. It was left there apparently by some agent of the fugitives. The saddle was in a neighboring barn and a pair of trousers was in the shed in which the pony had been abandoned.

E. A. Cudahy, speaking of the case last night, said:

"There are some important developments, but for obvious reasons I cannot state them for publication. The detectives have found some clues that seem to point in the right direction. I think the discovery of the lantern which marked the place where I deposited the ransom is an important clue. The lantern has been identified by Pat McGraw, who was with me when I deposited the money. A more important clue, however, will be in hand when we get the horse which one of the men used on the night of the kidnaping. A horse answering the description has been picked up near Pacific Junction and the animal will be brought to Omaha. If this proves to be the horse used by the kidnapers it ought to aid us.

"The published story that there were only two men implicated in the crime is incorrect, because two men were in the buggy that carried off my boy and a third man followed on horseback. My son thinks he could identify only one of the kidnapers—the one who remained with him in the house. This man talked a great deal and Eddie thinks he could identify him by his voice."

BOX OF CARTRIDGES FOUND.

Like One Believed to Have Passed Through Late Goebel's Body.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 26.—One of the clerks in the state auditor's office, in searching the vault for old records, found a cartridge box containing eight metal patched smokeless powder cartridges, .38-55 calibre, corresponding exactly to the bullet found in the hackberry tree and which was believed to have passed through Senator Goebel's body.

The significance of the discovery lies in the fact that Henry Youtsey, convicted of participation in the Goebel assassination in October, was a clerk in the auditor's office at the time of the assassination, and had access to the vault where the cartridges were found, and that George Barnes, another clerk in the office, testified he saw Youtsey with a box of cartridges.

FUNERAL OF MORRIS.

Murdered Man's Remains Placed in a Vault in a Cemetery at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—The body of Frank H. Morris, the murdered auditor for the war department, was brought here from Washington, being accompanied by the widow and son of the deceased. Brief funeral services were held within the chapel at Lakeview cemetery, which were attended by quite a number of the friends and acquaintances of the family. The body was placed in a vault. Among the many floral tributes was one from the clerks in the war department.

Two Boys Drowned.

Harrisburg, Dec. 26.—John Hamaker, aged 10 years, and William Bowers, aged 9 years, were drowned in the Pennsylvania canal in West Harrisburg. The boys were skating on the ice, which gave way under their weight, and both sank to the bottom.

HOMAGE TO CHRIST.

Hanna Says Christmas Should Be Consecrated.

SPEAKS AT SALVATION ARMY FEAST

About 1,500 Poor Persons Had Sat Down to the Dinner—Army's Work Commended—Should Have the Support of All Good Citizens, the Senator Says.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Christmas day the Salvation Army fed about 1,500 poor people in the Gray's armory. Senator Hanna, who is a staunch friend of the Salvation Army, was present. He made a short speech, in which he said:

"Christmas should be a happy day, consecrated to the highest sentiments of true happiness. It should be confined to no class, or sect, but be consecrated to him who came to earth for all men.

"It is a happy day, made happy by these kind and noble men and women, whom I call practical Christians. I am glad to have occasion to express my appreciation of the Salvation Army. It is the kindergarten of Christianity.

"It fulfills the needs that other institutions fail to fill. It gives an opportunity to those who have none; it lays the foundation of law and good order; it advances higher civilization and the city of Cleveland is fortunate in having such a band of Christian workers. This labor, to be entirely successful, should have the support of all good citizens; therefore, my friends, renew your allegiance and give your support to this grand work. May God bless all those in this labor and may we all join in the fulfillment of the higher promise."

Baskets of provisions were also sent to 500 poor families. In the evening, in the armory, there was an entertainment, with two immense Christmas trees, loaded with presents for poor children. About 2,000 poor people were present.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—Inmates of the various eleemosynary and corrective institutions of the city enjoyed Christmas along with the rest of the world. There were special celebrations in all of which religious services were a feature. The Post Dispatch provided 15,000 dinners for the poor in different parts of the city.

New York, Dec. 26.—It was estimated that more money was spent in Xmas gifts this year in New York than ever before, and the same is true in regard to charitable gifts. It was only because a case of destitution was kept hidden that the unfortunate was not supplied with Christmas cheer.

Of all the set Christmas feasts that of the Salvation Army at Madison Square garden last evening was the largest. A bountiful Christmas dinner was served to about 4,000 persons, men, women and children. The cost was defrayed from a fund of about $8,000 collected by the army, chiefly through the kettles, which for several weeks have hung from tripods in various parts of the city, to receive contributions "to keep the Christmas pot boiling."

PROPOSED WORLD'S FAIR.

Feeling of Confidence Said to Have Been Manifest Among Members of Committee at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—A feeling of confidence among the World's Fair workers was manifest during last week and there was a firm belief that the long looked for incorporation of the Louisiana Purchase Centennial company will soon be an accomplished fact. Just how much addition to the $5,000,000 fund has been made since the enthusiastic meeting on last Tuesday night is not announced, but indications point to it being very large. When the question of celebrating the Louisiana Purchase Centennial was first discussed over three years ago, the objection to a world's fair was the temporary nature of the buildings and the fact that comparatively nothing would remain after the close of the exposition. This objection has been frequently reiterated during the canvass. A plan is being perfected in Paris by a committee appointed for the purpose for providing and utilizing the prominent buildings and features of the exposition which has just closed. Secretary Cox has secured from Paris a manuscript copy of a full report prepared by this committee which answers the objections to a world's fair on the question of its temporary character.

RUSSIAN PAPERS FRIENDLY

Expressed Approval of Senate's Treaty Attitude. Also Our Attitude as to China.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 26.—The Novoe Veryma, discussing the English newspaper indictment of the United States senate for "its unparalleled attempt to overturn the Clayton-Bulwer treaty," said:

"The case is not unusual. Conditions have changed, and the treaty must change, too. Russia afforded an example in 1870 in declaring that she was no longer bound by her promise not to maintain war vessels in the Black sea."

The Bourse Gazette says: "Russia is gratified by America's diplomatic victory over England. Western Europe dislikes the Monroe doctrine because it desires to grab territories everywhere. Russia, which has sympathized with America since her independence, which liquidated American possessions to America, has nothing against the thies have grown more cordial in China."

Washington, Dec. 26.—The secretary of war has made a decision that in cases where the post commander certifies that it is necessary arctic overshoes, fur gauntlets and caps and woolen mittens may be used at cost prices to enlisted men. Y.

The overcoats are to be issued only to men performing guard duty or field service when exposed to weather which would jeopardize life or limbs by freezing. Their overcoats may be fur or blanket-lined canvas.

APPEAL FOR ARMENIANS.

Revolutionary Committee in the United States Sends Message to President McKinley.

Boston, Dec. 26.—At a convention of representatives of the American revolution fed ration the following resolution, which was telegraphed to President McKinley, was adopted: "Boston, Dec. 25, 1900.

"To His Excellency, William McKinley, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

"The committees of the American revolutionary federation of this country, in their annual convention assembled in Boston, unanimously congratulate you upon your re-election to the presidency of the United States, and invite your excellency's kind attention to the deplorable condition in which our people in Armenia are perishing and will soon be exterminated if a powerful hand does not come to the rescue of such a nation, which has been the champion of civilization for centuries in Asia Minor.

"In the present complicated situation of European diplomacy the United States is the only nation that has been unselfish and neutral in Oriental affairs, and yet a friend for suffering races; the only nation who can terrorize the great assassin and his bloodthirsty fanatics to save the remainder of their victims from imminent bloodshed.

"Our fathers and brothers gave their lives for the sake of our country and we are all ready to fall in their places, but in this utmost struggle have we not the right to expect assistance from this great republic, which founded its existence upon revolution and which has the inheritance of liberty from Washington and Lincoln.

"Please accept our sincere wishes and assurances of our highest regards."

A RIOT IN INDIANA.

Negroes Took Possession of a Saloon—One Known to Have Been Shot.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 26.—A race war is in progress at Cementville, a small station on the Panhandle road, about five miles north of this city, and serious trouble is expected. The negroes are armed and the whites are keeping within doors to avoid them.

The outbreak began when Lee Ranger and John Redmond, negroes, became intoxicated and started in to intimidate whites. When their insults were resented other negroes joined Ranger and Redmond, and captured Samuel Kendall's saloon. Nearly 20 shots were fired, but no one was hurt.

An appeal by telephone was made to Sheriff Rave for help and he drove to Cementville and to some extent quieted the negroes while he was present.

After his departure another outbreak took place and message after message came to the local police to send men to the town.

Ranger was shot by Kendall, but how badly is not known, as he was carried away and escorted by his companions. Kendall's life was threatened, and about midnight he managed to escape from his store and came direct to this city, awakening Prosecutor Montgomery, and begging him to issue warrants and have deputy sheriffs sworn in to serve them.

The community finally became quiet, the negroes having everything their own way. The whites are intimidated to such an extent that they are using every possible precaution to prevent a collision.

INDIAN KILLED THREE

Being Hit on Head, He Started on a Rampage.

HOMICIDE FRENZY DUE TO LIQUOR

Five Deaths May Be the Result—Terrible Use of His Winchester—Murderer Run Down by a Posse, Severely Wounded in Arm, and Taken Prisoner.

Muskogee, I. T., Dec. 26.—John Tiger, a full blood Indian, a ferryman on the Arkansas river two miles south of Eufaula, went to Eufaula with his wife, and while intoxicated met L. S. Roper and threatened to kill him. Roper immediately took Tiger with a board, no words passing between them. Tiger went to his buggy, procured a Winchester and came back to kill Roper, but failed to find him. Enraged, he proceeded to shoot every one he saw, shooting Jesse Beck through the hips and killing him; shooting and killing Dave Porter, a nephew of Chief Porter, and a mover named Johnson, on his way to Missouri in a covered wagon with his family. Bud Taylor, aged 18, a boy, was shot through the shoulder and is not expected to live. Tiger immediately jumped on a horse and tried to escape, but was pursued. Tiger was chased three miles, when he jumped off his horse, went behind a tree and began shooting. Deputy Marshal Johnson, who returned the fire, struck Tiger in the arm. The murderer surrendered and was brought to Eufaula. Tiger's arm will have to be amputated. Great indignation prevails over the free sale of liquors and firearms. J. Smith, who lives two miles south of Checotah, became involved in a quarrel with T. Thompson over the affair at Eufaula and began shooting. Thompson being mortally wounded.

LOBBY ON THE OTHER SIDE.

Hanna's Reply to Accusations of There Being Lobbying For Ship Bill.

Cleveland, Dec. 26.—Senator Hanna was informed of a statement which is in circulation to the effect that there was a powerful lobby in favor of the subsidizing of American shipping at the Philadelphia convention and in Washington.

"The only lobby of that kind that I know anything about," said the senator, "is a lobby of foreign steamship companies, which is trying to defeat the bill. There was no lobby at Philadelphia at all. The subsidy bill is a business measure and there is no desire to force it through congress. We want it to go through on its merits. It has now been three years in preparation and has been amended 20 times. The president in all his messages has urged the necessity of some such measure and it was made a plank in the St. Louis platform and the Philadelphia platform. The details are left to congress to work out."

Sothern Again Resumed Work.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—E. H. Sothern, the actor, who for some time was laid up with an accident that necessitated the cancelling of dates all over the country, made his first appearance since the accident, presenting "Hamlet" at the Olympic theater before a crowded house. TURNED OVER SOME JEWELS

Mrs. Alvord Made Partial Restitution. Trial of Her Husband to Commence Today.

New York, Dec. 26.—The trial of Cornelius Alvord, Jr., defaulting cashier of the First National bank of this city, is set for today, in the United States district court. The amount of his defalcation was $690,000.

One of the interesting features of the trial and which in all probability will be brought out by the United States district attorney in his examination, is the amount of restitution of the stolen funds made up to this time. The officers of the First National bank have been reticent upon this point ever since Alvord's arrest. The sale of his effects in his home in Mount Vernon amounted to very little. Where the bank really made good part of its loss was, it is said, in the turning over of Mrs. Alvord's jewels.

Their value has been estimated at not less than $150,000 and the story goes that they were taken to the bank and placed in the custody of one of the officers, who locked them up in a strong box until they could be appraised and sold. How long these gems were in the possession of Mrs. Alvord is not known. It is said she has had them for three or four years, and that they were presents from her husband. The whole story is expected to come out before the prosecution closes its case.

A PATRIOTIC SCHEME

THE TOWN WAS IN FAVOR OF FLYING THE FLAG PERPETUALLY.

Pap Perkins, Postmaster of Jericho, Tells How Dissension Marred the Discussion of the Proposition and How the Project Ended.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was Enos Hopkins who got the idea that Jericho should prove her patriotism to the world at large by displaying the American flag for seven days a week. He got the idea one Sunday mornin as he lay in bed, and he hugged it to his soul and chuckled over it for a week before he said anything to a livin soul. Everybody knew by his actions that somethin was up, but they couldn't figger out exactly what it was. At length, when Saturday night came, and there was the usual crowd at the postoffice, he shot off his gun. He had his speech all prepared. He told how the American flag was first hung to the breeze—how men cheered for liberty as they saw it—how it had given freedom to a continent and brought happiness to millions. Men had fought cheerin for that flag, and men had died blessin it. He wanted it h'listed in Jericho at sunrise every day in the year, and he wanted children to cry for it and men and women to venerate it. Monday was wash day in Jericho, and front yards and back yards made a beautiful showin of sheets and shirts and

"HAVE WE NO PUBLIC SPIRIT AMONG US?" towels and tablecloths, but above them all would flap and flop the flag which had covered the heroes of Bunker Hill as they died in the cause of liberty.

As soon as the crowd had recovered from its surprise and begun to cheer Deacon Spooner said it was a mighty strong pint and one worthy of a leadin patriot of Jericho. He was heartily in favor of the idea, and he would then and there contribute 13 cents toward the purchase of a public flag. He also thought a vote of thanks was due Enos for his cuteness in thinkin out the idea. A flappin, floppin flag h'listed to the balmy breezes of Jericho would give the town worldwide fame and probably result in a boom.

Then Hosea Saunders spoke. His grandfather had died while fightin under the stars and stripes. His father had fallen and killed himself while climbin a flagpole. His mother had wrapped him in the flag of liberty when he was born, and he had long thought of havin a group of stars tattooed between his shoulders. He loved his wife and children, and he set a heap of value on his hoss and cow, but he loved the flag of his country more. It was hard times, and money was tight, but he would go without tobacco for a month in order to contribute a shillin toward the purchase of a flag. With his own hands, if agreeable to all, he would h'list the emblem at sunrise and lower it at sunset durin the rest of his natural life.

The deacon said that was also a beautiful speech, with a mighty strong pint to it, and the feelin's of the crowd had got so worked up over freedom and liberty that tears stood in many eyes. Hosea was follered by Squar Joslyn, Philatus Williams, Abraham White and others, and there was frequent cheerin and shakin hands. About ten years ago Abijah Davison's dog tore the ear off a hog owned by Joel Hardman, and the men had been enemies ever since, but the excitement and the patriotic consideration by them speeches they each other's arms and became friends.

ag'in. It was finally settled that a public contribution should be taken up to buy a $15 flag, and then came the question of where it should be raised. Enos Hopkins, who had started it all, got up in a modest way and said he would go to the expense of plantin a pole in front of his house. It was on high ground, and the flag could be seen from every house in Jericho.

"We shouldn't put Enos to all that trouble," said Deacon Spooner as he rose up. "He's done his sheer in thinkin out the plan. I'll see that the flag is duly displayed from the roof of my cooper shop when it arrives."

"What's the matter with h'listin it over my grocery?" asked Dan Skinner as he wiped the tears of emotion from his eyes.

"Or with h'listin it over my coal yard?" said Darius Waterman, who calculated to chip in 10 cents and no more. Then everybody bobbed up and demanded to be heard. Every man present wanted that flag in front of his house or place of business and nowhere else, and purty soon they was shakin their fists and sayin they'd be durned if they wouldn't have it there or refuse to contribute a red cent. There was a lively row on in two minits, with no more weepin over patriotism. As the row grew hotter Abijah Davison turned to Joel Hardman and said he was glad his dog had bit the ear off that hog and that he'd like to serve Joel the same way. Deacon Spooner rattled on the stovepipe with his cane until he quieted the racket, and then he said:

"Feller patriots, but have we no public spirit among us?"

"We have," yelled the crowd.

"Then let us exhibit it. Bein my cooper shop is the highest buildin in town and bein the American flag has got to flip-flap in the breeze to be seen and venerated, I unselfishly offer to put up a pole and take charge of the flag."

"So do I!" shouts every man in the crowd.

Then Squar Joslyn made a speech. He told how a million men had died for that flag; how its stars and bars had made tyrants tremble; how a young nation had worshiped it and made all the world respect it. He wound up after ten minits by offerin to float it from his hoss barn, but only hisses and groans follered. There was signs that three or four patriots would soon be punchin each other's head when Lish Billings strolled in in that careless way of his. Deacon Spooner pounded and rattled till he got order and then said:

"I want to hear from Lish Billings on this matter. Mebbe he can suggest somethin. Lish, what place in Jericho would you say the American flag ought to float from?"

"How many stars are there on the American flag?" calmly asks Lish.

Nobody could tell.

"Well, how many stripes?"

Nobody could tell.

And at the end of five minits more there wasn't a patriot left in the postoffice, and nothin more has ever been said about buyin a public flag.

A Singular Allment.

One of the leading alienists of Chicago, with a practice of 30 years behind him, had an experience not long ago that was entirely new to him.

It was near his hour for starting to his lecture class in a West Side school. Three women were in the waiting room. Two of them were willing to make an appointment for the next day. The third one, a stranger, would hear to no delay, and the doctor's assistant showed her in.

"I had my hat in my hand," said the doctor, "and she had been told that I was in a hurry. She came across the room in a most leisurely fashion, however, taking three times as much time as the ordinary person would. She was chewing an unusual wad of gum—a whole package. I should say—and she was chewing it with desperate vigor."

"She sat down slowly, and I asked her a question. She looked straight at me and went on chewing. I spoke again and again, but she sat looking at me and chewing in as much silence as was possible under the circumstances. Finally I said to her:

"Madam, will you kindly stop chewing long enough to answer my questions?"

"Then she burst out, sobbing:"

"That's just what I'm here for—I can't stop—I've got to chew—and I've been chewing just this way for more than two years."—Chicago Tribune.

Wheeler's Bravery.

Wheeler's charge at the battle of Shiloh was said by General Grant to be one of the most splendid exhibitions of human bravery he had ever witnessed, and a feat which roused admiration among both armies was when the intrepid little general accomplished the destruction of Rosecrans' provision train after the battle of Chickamauga.

On Dec. 30, 1863, General Wheeler attempted and successfully carried out one of the most daring, perilous and important duties ever assigned a cavalry commander. He crossed the Tennessee river in the face of a division of cavalry under General George Crook, drove back and worsted the troops that guarded the Federal trains of 600 mules and 1,000 wagons and captured the whole, with 1,500 prisoners.

While he was thus engaged Rosecrans' cavalry, 8,000 strong, swept down upon the Georgians. The latter charged and repulsed the northerners, capturing the forts at McMinnville, Tenn., with 600 prisoners and great stores; capturing the forts and destroying the bridges near Murfreesboro, and then, as full of fight as at the beginning of the engagement, they turned and put to rout General Hooker and the Eleventh and Twelfth corps that came riding down at the moment to reinforce the Yankees.—Chicago Journal.

Bedlam.

The word "bedlam" is a corruption of the word "Bethlehem" and originated as a synonym for chaos at the time when the house of Bethlehem, occupied by a sisterhood of London, became an insane asylum. The treatment of the insane in the early part of the sixteenth century was not well understood, and, according to the theories then prevalent, it was necessary to frighten the patient out of his lunacy. All sorts of awful expedients were resorted to, among them "surprise doors," which slipped from under the feet; "surprise baths" and floggings at the periods of most severe illness; hence the name "bedlam," the result of incorrect spelling, possibly, came easily to stand for mad things.

SURE SIGN OF DEATH.

ONE SIMPLE TEST THAT, IT IS ALLEGED, NEVER FAILS.

A Physician Who Says He Has Tried It In More Than a Thousand Cases Explains His Method of Preventing Premature Burial.

The question of an absolutely sure sign of death has troubled mankind from ancient times. It has been most variously answered, but never to entire satisfaction. The difficulties we meet with are: First, that not all organs of the body die in one moment, and second, that the action of some of the vital organs may be so diminished that by ordinary means it appears almost impossible to decide whether the life in them is in fact extinct or not.

The actual causes of physiological death are three: First, cessation of brain function; second, cessation of respiration or failure of the lungs; third, failure of the heart.

The first, involving immediate death of the central or animal nervous system only, is not at once followed by the inactivity of the peripheral nervous system and its special so called vegetative centers, as long ago was demonstrated by Brown-Sequard, Schiff and others. So the lungs may continue to contract and expand, the heart may continue to beat, even if with greatly diminished power. We know further that the life of the skin is not extinct. Hair and nails continue to grow, the stomach continues to digest, the liver to secrete bile, etc. Respecting the second cause of death, we well know that respiration may cease for quite awhile if the brain is not affected and the circulation not interrupted. And of the third cause, by heart failure, the same may be said. So we see that we may speak of true, absolute physiological death only after the cessation of function of the three organs together or at least of two of them, the lungs and the heart, without the life action of which the brain certainly cannot operate.

Now, as regards respiration, we have very simple means to demonstrate its cessation. So remains, in fact, as the only one to show its true death the heart. This to prove indeed with absolute certainty is quite a difficult problem. Upon the absence therefore of any and all traces of circulation in the body have been concentrated most experiments. And as regards the same we have to take into consideration that by disease the heart beats might be diminished to but so few faint pulsations per minute, might become so imperceptible, that without the aid of special instruments and long continued observations nothing of their existence may be detected.

In the following I shall give the simple means by which any person easily enough may convince himself of the absence or presence even of the slightest traces of circulation:

If we ligate tight a member of the body—best, for example, a finger between the first and second joint—in the living we will soon notice, beginning almost at once, a reddish coloration of the portion above the ligature. It becomes darker and darker red and finally assumes a dark bluish red color. The entire upper portion will be thus affected, and only directly around the ligature there will be a small, colorless, white ring. Now, as sure as this discoloration will be observed in the living being, as sure will all traces of it be absent in the dead. The bluish discoloration occasionally observed of and around the finger nails in some corpses is of no influence upon, nor does it interfere in the slightest with, the phenomenon and its correct interpretation.

The phenomenon of course is easily enough explained in the living by the stagnation of the blood in the veins and the capillaries when a new supply through the arteries and the backflow through the veins is cut off by the ligature. The white ring around the latter is produced by the partial arterial, partial venous anæmia.

In place of a finger, if, as it at times may happen, the skin seems too thick and horny to show the phenomenon plainly, though this will but seldom occur, one may use the toes, the earlaps, even the tip of the nose, if desired. The member must be only thin enough in order to make the ligature as tight and perfect as possible.

I have used this means in about 1,030 to 1,040 cases previous to post mortem examinations.

In one case only I observed the mentioned discoloration, though it was impossible to notice any heart action by any means. I at once resorted to resection, and, sure enough, the blood flowed, and after a short time faint heart beats up to seven per minute could be distinguished. Every thing was done to start respiration. Yet it was too late, and the heart beats within half an hour gradually diminished. The corpse had been lying for dead for over two hours.—Dr. Theodore Deecke in Utica Press.

A Lesson.

At a lesson in a medical college the other day one of the students, who was by no means a dillard, was asked by the professor, "How much is a dose of —?" (giving the technical name of a strong poison).

"A teaspoonful," was the reply. The professor made no comment, but the student, a quarter of an hour later, realized that he had made a mistake, and straightway said:

"Professor, I want to change my answer to that question."

"It's too late, sir," responded the professor curtly, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead 14 minutes."—London Telegraph.

Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Do you see that man with the dark mustache?" said Sherlock Holmes, Jr.

"Yes. Do you know him?"

"I never saw him before. He is married. He ought to live in a flat, but doesn't. His wife is afraid of the hired girl, and he is left handed."

"Mr. Holmes, you are an everlasting marvel. How can you tell that about a man you don't know and whom you never saw before?"

"Look at the second knuckle on his left hand. You see, it is badly skinned. Also there is a black mark on his left cuff. Now let us see what we must make of this. When a left handed man pokes up the furnace fire, how does he do it? By putting his left hand forward, of course. Thus it happened that it was his left hand which scraped against the furnace door. The blackened cuff shows that it was a furnace door. Having this foundation to work upon, the rest is easy. If he lived in a flat, he would have no furnace to look after, and if his wife were not afraid of the hired girl they would make the latter do the poking up. It is all very simple if one's perceptive faculties are properly trained. He can't really afford to live in a house, because if he could he would have a man to look after the furnace. Therefore he ought to live in a flat."

"But hold on. How do you know the man is married? He can't be over 30 at the most. Why may it not be possible that he lives at home with his widowed mother?"

"My dear sir," said Sherlock Holmes, Jr., "I am surprised at your lack of perspicacity. If he lived at home with his widowed mother, he would permit her to tend to the furnace herself."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Round Robin Remedy.

When a doctor of 30 years' practice encounters a new experience, it must be worth relating. This is from a physician on Lafayette avenue who has fought disease for the period named.

"I saw him get gingerly out of a wagon in front of the office. He then left the team with his daughter, ignored the bell and pounded lustily on the door. I answered in person because I thought he and my office girl might get into an argument, for he looked just like a man who would insist upon seeing the 'doc' at once."

"Doc," he began without other preliminary, "I've been a-takin' truck fur six months, and blamed if I hain't worse'n I was at the beginnin'."

"What's the matter with you?"

"Stomach's all out o' whack. Regular riot down there all the time and me a-dosin in the remedy after each meal and at early bedtime."

"What are you taking?"

"Here it is, doc, and I got a lot left yet. My first wife uster buy it in the bulk 'cause it came cheaper."

"But this is for the lungs."

"S'pose I don't know that? Course it's for the lungs. That's what was the matter with her. I don't care if it was fur the liver. It's got ter go to the stomach first, hain't it? And the stomach and the lungs hain't so durned far apart but what helps one helps the other."—Detroit Free Press.
